BLOWS EXCHANGED IN SOCIALIST RAID

PARIS, Feb. 13 (CP-Havas).—Fresh disorders broke out in Paris tonight following a swift move by the Sarraut Government to curb political trouble in the wake of a violent street attack on Leon Blum, Socialist leader and veteran statesman.

Socialists raided a meeting place of the Action Francaise and exchanged blows with Royalists gathered there.

Earlier in the evening a small party of Royalists staged a demonstration in the Place d'Alma. Seven of them were arrested on suspicion of having taken part in disorderly violence.

A NEW CRISIS

France faced a new critical political situation as a result of the attack on M. Blum, and the subsequent abolition of the chief French Royalist organizations.

Royalist students, who quit a funeral procession and seriously wounded M. Blum after dragging him from a taxicab in the Boulevard St. Germain, were arrested; then offices of the Action Francaise, French Royalist League, were raided by police, and the Government initiated a judiciary investigation of possible "provocation to murder" by a Royalist editor, Charles Maurras.

Faced with possible Socialist counter-demonstrations against the brutality of the assault on M. Blum, Premier Albert Sarraut remained in his office at the Ministry of the In-

SEASIDE WALK IS ADVOCATED

Construction of Promenade Along Oak Bay Waterfront Would Cost $6,550

Construction of a walk on the sea side of Beach Drive, stretching from Newport Avenue to the Uplands, and giving pedestrians an unobstructed view of the ocean and many wooded islands, is being considered by the Oak Bay Council.

A. S. G. Musgrave, acting municipal engineer, submitted an estimate on the cost of work to the council last night. Total cost would be $6,550. The more urgent parts of the work would cost $3,580. The total distance of the walk would be 3,785 yards, or a little more than two miles.

The reasons set out for following the sea side of avenue were given by the engineer as commanding a better view of the water and the fact that the walk would connect up with existing parts of the promenade without having to cross streets.

OBJECTIONS ARE HEARD

Objections to the scheme were drawn from Premier T. D. Pattullo, who pointed out that it would interfere with his green sward in front of his home; W. C. Merston, of the Beach Hotel, who felt a danger would arise owing to so many paths coming out from the seaside portion of the promenade, and Douglas Barff, who objected because it would mean the removal of some trees.

The proposal was referred to the works committee, and owing to the fact that the work will not be started at once, an opportunity to hear objections will be afforded later.

MARQUIS OF READING LEAVES BIG ESTATE

LONDON, Feb. 13 (CP).—Lord Reading, former Viceroy of India and long prominent in British public life, left an estate of £290,000 (about $1,450,000) when he died last December 30 following a chill.

The first Marquis of Reading, who had held many of the highest posts in the judiciary and diplomatic fields, concluded his career as Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports.

San Francisco Bridge Nears Completion

Heretofore suspension bridge spans have been constructed from the towers, with the use of traveler cranes. Engineers directing the building of the four-and-one-half-mile San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridge are putting the spans of that structure together from the middle, as seen in the lower picture. At top, a striking view of the bridge, showing the east approach.

Pitiless Frost and Winds Bring Death to Hundreds In Europe and Near East

At Least One Hundred Lose Lives in Blizzard Raging In Balkans

CONDITIONS SEVERE IN BRITISH ISLES

LONDON, Feb. 13 (AP). — Deaths from blizzards, gales and cold may exceed 200 in Europe and the Near East, it was feared tonight, after milder conditions enabled a partial restoration of transportation and communication systems.

The Balkans were hard hit. Reports to the Bulgarian Ministry of the Interior said at least 100 persons lost their lives in a bitter blizzard, many of them travelers caught between villages. King Boris, who is visiting in Germany, telephoned orders that relief work be speeded.

REPORTS OF FAMINE

In Hungary, temperatures were below zero, adding to the suffering. A Government committee is investigating reports of near-famine in many provinces. Many districts of Southern Jugoslavia were without communication.

In the British Isles, bitter cold prevailed following violent gales which had driven shipping to shelter. Heavy fog combined with subfreezing temperatures in London and vicinity to tangle traffic. The cold was expected to last for at

BOGUS BILLS IN PRISON CEILING

Cache Found of Counterfeit Money Made by Convicts In Jail

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13 (AP).—Captain Thomas B. Foster, of the secret service here, announced late today he was informed that a cache of counterfeit bills had been found in the ceiling of the photo-engraving room at San Quentin Prison, and that the copper plate from which they were made was also found in the prison.

Foster did not reveal the size of the cache, but his agents had been searching for about $9,500 worth of the spurious money on the strength of a confession by Daniel R. Wilson, paroled prisoner, that San Quentin's engraving room had been used to produce the bills.

PLEADS GUILTY

Wilson, paroled San Francisco robber, pleaded guilty today before United States Commissioner E. E. Williams to a complaint charging conspiracy to possess and pass counterfeit money.

Clifford L. Parr, of Sacramento, Wilson's brother-in-law, and Thomas Bell, of Los Angeles also paroled men, denied similar charges and their preliminary hearing was set for February 19.

Vancouver Looks for Blackfish To Bring Warm Weather

VANCOUVER, Feb. 13 (CP).—Chief Signaller H. Cox, at Prospect Point, is hoping that the blackfish of the Gulf of Georgia will soon pay a visit to Vancouver's harbors, as he believes this will be a sign of a breaking up in the cold spell. He says they are better barometers than many of the instruments produced by human ingenuity.

When the blackfish come past the signal station, moving under the surface like huge torpedoes or submarines, it means a change of weather, usually a falling barometer and a westerly gale within forty-eight hours, he believes. When they go back to their playgrounds in the gulf the weather will continue fair. Signaller Cox thinks that if the blackfish come into the harbor they will be accompanied by a westerly wind that will drive the cold weather back to the mountains.

King Government Is Given Big Majority In First House Test

Woodsworth Amendment Defeated, 208 to 8—Address in Reply to Speech From Throne Passed Without Division

OTTAWA, Feb. 13 (CP).—The King Government emerged from its first test of strength in the House of Commons tonight with a majority of 200, recruited from Liberals, Conservatives and Social Creditors. By a vote of 208-8 the House turned down an amendment to the address in reply to the Speech From the Throne and then passed the main motion without division.

The amendment, proposed by J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader, condemned the Government for not presenting a legislative programme designed to ameliorate distress conditions and distribute wealth among the people.

Each of the seven C.C.F. members voted for the Woodsworth amendment, and they were joined by Agnes MacPhail, who was re-elected to the House as a United Farmer of Ontario-Labor. Opposed to it were 17 Social Crediters, 31 Conservatives and 160 Liberals.

It has happened only half a dozen

Ships Collide on Atlantic Coast

BOSTON, Feb. 13 (AP).—The coast guard reported tonight the Ss. Malton and the schooner Natalie Hammond, of Gloucester, collided tonight sixty miles southeast of Gloucester.

The Hammond was reported proceeding towards Boston slowly with one of her seamen in need of immediate assistance. The coast guard patrol boat Thetis was dispatched to take off the seaman.

No mention was made of damage to either vessel.

KILLED BY EXPLOSION IN CHICAGO STOCKYARD

CHICAGO, Feb. 13 (AP).—One man was reported killed and two others seriously injured when an explosion razed the hydrogen gas plant of Swift & Company, in the heart of the stock yards area.

Officials of the company said they believed only the three men were in the one-story plant when the explosion occurred.

Fire equipment raced to the district on reports that as many as forty employees were trapped.

Air Liner on Trial Flight Lands Safely

LONDON, Feb. 14 (AP).—Reuters reported today that the German air liner Samum, on a trial flight from Las Palmas, Canary Islands, to the Azores Island, had arrived there safely at 2:30 p.m. yesterday.

(Earlier reports from Teneriffe, Canary Islands, said a German seaplane, carrying thirty passengers, was said to have fallen near Ponta Delgada, in the Azores.)

F. C. Sanderson Is Deputy Speaker of House of Commons

OTTAWA, Feb. 13 (CP).—Frederick G. Sanderson, Liberal member of Perth, tonight was elected deputy speaker of the House of Commons. He was nominated by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, and his election was not opposed. The new deputy speaker had been a member of the House for some ten years, said Mr. King.

PARTY ISSUE BEING AIRED

Government Leader Declines Call for Convention by Burnaby Liberals

Liberal members of the Legislature have been offered a caucus on February 24 in place of a provincial-wide convention of the party, suggested by the Burnaby Provincial Liberal Association, it was disclosed yesterday, after a sharp exchange of letters between Hon. H. G. Perry and Premier T. D. Pattullo on party matters.

Out of the exchange it has developed that the Provincial Liberal Association has been without an official leader since the death of Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, the last president; that a dispute exists as to which of five vice-presidents, including two members of the Cabinet, should take the initiative in party matters, and that the Government is not anxious for a convention of the party at this time.

WANTED CONVENTION

The Burnaby Provincial Liberal Association started the issue by calling for a provincial-wide convention of the Liberal party, forwarding this resolution to Hon. H. G. Perry, who, with H. Herridge, Hon. K. O. MacDonald, Dugald Donaghy, K.C., and Hon. John Hart, comprise the five vice-presidents of the provincial organization.

Mr. Perry, one of the senior Liberals in British Columbia, passed on the Burnaby resolution to the Premier, leader of the party in the Government and Legislature, only to be informed that Mr. Herridge headed the list of vice-presidents named, and that no convention was considered necessary.

An alternative proposal for a "miniature convention" of House and party supporters of the Administration was rejected at the same time.

WAS CANDIDATE

It developed that a Mr. Herridge was reported to have stood on another ticket than that of the Liberal party at the last Federal election, for West Kootenay, though it was not clear if he was the Mr. Herridge who is vice-president of the provincial Liberal party.

Meanwhile, Mr. Perry withdrew from the negotiations between the party and the Administration, and offered to route all further correspondence to Mr. Herridge, according to the text of the correspondence published yesterday.

On the eve of a third and crucial session, members of the Government declined to comment on the dispute over a convention.

TRELISSICK ON WAY TO SAFETY

British Ship in Distress Off Oregon Coast When List Develops

SEATTLE, Feb. 13 (AP). — Coast guard headquarters here reported receiving a wireless message from the cutter Onondaga tonight saying the cutter probably would reach the crippled British freighter Trelissick about 1 a.m. tomorrow, some 200 miles southwest of the Columbia River mouth.

Responding to a distress call from the Trelissick this morning, the Onondaga left Astoria, Ore., in the face of heavy seas.

The coast guard patrol boat, Pulaski, from Marshfield, Ore., put out to sea tonight, coast guardsmen said, but was not expected to reach the Trelissick until after the Onondaga arrived.

IS LISTING HEAVILY

The Trelissick, carrying a crew of thirty-seven, including Murdock Ross, shipped in Vancouver, B.C., last week as cabin boy, was listing heavily and in danger of losing her deckload.

She is en route from Comox, B.C., to Sydney, Australia, with 3,800,000 feet of logs and lumber. Her master reported she was listing twenty-one degrees, shipping water, rolling heavily and making but four knots.

FALL PROVES FATAL

VANCOUVER, Feb. 13 (CP).—H. A. MacDonald died today from injuries he suffered in a fall from a tree last Monday. MacDonald was pruning the tree when he lost his balance and fell twenty feet to the ground fracturing his skull.

TENSION INCREASED BY REPORT OF BOMBING PLANES IN CLASH

Full Military Air Squadron Is Ordered Ready for Emergency

TOKIO, Feb. 13 (AP).—Japanese military reports that Outer Mongolia, under the wing of Soviet Russia, used bombing planes in the latest border clash with Manchukuoan-Japanese Troops added tenseness tonight to a situation already delicate.

Military reports from the border said the planes attempted to bomb a Japanese-Manchukuoan column, which participated in what was called the biggest battle of the year along the frontier.

A Japanese officer and seven Japanese soldiers, general headquarters at Hsinking, capital of the Japanese-sponsored State of Manchukuo reported, were killed in the clash.

TAKING GRAVE VIEW

A Domei (Japanese) News Agency dispatch from Hsinking said the Manchukuan Government was taking an extremely grave view of the incident because "the enemy used bombing planes."

This attitude was expressed by a spokesman for the Manchukuan Foreign Office. Accounts here differed as to whether two or three planes were used and whether they were Russian or Outer Mongolian.

Japan's Minister of War, Yoshiyuki Kawashima, expressed concern today over what he called a huge Soviet concentration of military power in the Far East, close to Manchukuo's borders.

NOT PLANNING INITIATIVE

He asserted Japan does not plan to take military initiative against Russia, but added: "If events move in such a way as to compel us to change this attitude, we must do what we can to cope with the situation. The Russians are building strong frontier positions and otherwise forward military preparations," he continued. "On the Manchukuo side of the border, the Japanese army is doing very little in the way of reinforcements of Japanese

Hits Reef In Fog and Is Sinking

PALMA, Majorca, Feb. 13 (CP-Havas).—The Greek freighter Plymnia, en route to New York, tonight was reported sinking in the Mediterranean off this port after striking a submerged reef in a dense fog.

A tug left here to aid the stricken ship or rescue the twenty-six men aboard. Reports indicated the Plymnia would be a complete loss.

ARREST TWO FOR MURDER

Peace River Homesteader Beaten to Death Before Christmas Party

Christian Mueller, now in hospital under police guard, and George Miller, both of Tupper Creek in the Peace River district, were arrested by the Provincial Police yesterday and charged with the murder of Albert Demean, Tupper Creek homesteader, found beaten to death on the trail on December 19 last. Preliminary hearing will follow in the North.

Mueller lies in a Peace River hospital at or near Pouce Coupe, recovering from an operation for acute appendicitis. A guard was placed at his bed. Miller was taken into custody elsewhere in the area.

BEATEN TO DEATH

The body of Albert Demean was found on a trail leading from his home, southeast of Pouce Coupe, to the Tupper Creek school house, where settlers had planned a Christmas tree on December 19. The remains disclosed signs of a violent struggle, in which the unfortunate man had been clubbed to death.

For six weeks, investigation by northern posts of the provincial force had been proceeding quietly, culminating yesterday in the arrest of two men, against whom murder charges have now been preferred. Preliminary hearing on the charge must await the recovery of Mueller, both men meanwhile being remanded before a magistrate, headquarters of the British Columbia Police said.

Have Close Call In Burning Home

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Feb 13 (CP).—The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Norman, at Point Roberts, Wash., was destroyed by fire last night, according to word received here today.

All contents of the building were destroyed and the family narrowly escaped death. Their three children had gone to bed and Mr. and Mrs. Norman were retiring when the fire was discovered.

Damage is estimated at between $1,500 and $2,000.

Fire Helped in Fighting Itself

CALGARY, Feb. 13 (CP).—On arrival at a barn fire in Springbank, nine miles from here, Calgary firemen found their emergency pumps frozen solid. They held the frozen pumps to the flames and then turned loose their contents. It was twenty-six degrees below zero.

KILLED BY FALL OF ROCK AT NORANDA

NORANDA, Que., Feb. 13 (CP).—Caught beneath a pile of falling rock, Raoul Talbot, an underground worker, was fatally injured today at the Noranda Mine property. Talbot, about thirty years old, is survived by his widow and one child.

PUSH CAMPAIGN AGAINST SPIES

Nazi Government Active in Combating "Enemies of The State"

BERLIN, Feb. 13 (AP).—The arrest of a waiter charged with attempting to betray secrets of Germany's naval re-armament was disclosed tonight as the Nazi Government pushed its campaign against "enemies of the State."

The Reich War Ministry said it had no knowledge of the reported arrests of fifty members of the navy in connection with an espionage plot.

Investigation in Flensburg disclosed that a waiter was arrested there about four weeks ago by the secret police on a high treason charge. Naval men, it was said, denounced him to police for trying to secure information.

STILL IN CUSTODY

Although the utmost reticence concerning the extent of anti-Catholic action in the Rhineland was still observed in both official and Catholic circles, it was learned that Prelate Banasch, an associate of the Bishop of Berlin, who was arrested on November 24, still is held in custody without any definite charge brought against him.

Prelate Banasch was chief of the Catholic Information Bureau. A Catholic priest, Father Albert Immel, was sentenced to one year's imprisonment at Frankfort-on-the-Main for "abuse of the pulpit."

Officials insisted that recent raids against Catholics in the Rhineland and arrests were connected with an attempt to revive Communist activities.

Young Cyclist Is Seriously Injured

VANCOUVER, Feb. 13 (CP).—George Hood, fourteen, is in hospital today with serious injuries suffered when his bicycle collided with a truck on Renfrew Street. His condition is reported as fair. The lad was first taken to his home, but was later removed to hospital when it was found his injuries were serious.

MONTANA GIVEN SUDDEN FRIGHT

Series of Earth Shocks Heighten Hardship of Frost and Snow

HELENA, Montana, Feb. 13 (AP).—Earthquakes struck terror in several Montana cities tonight, as an added hardship to the state's longest cold wave and heaviest snowfall in years.

A series of short, sharp quakes shocked Helena late today. Butte, Missoula and Livingston felt light tremors. It is nearly 250 miles from Livingston to Missoula.

No damage was reported in any of the cities.

Pedestrians jumped from the sidewalks in Helena as large quantities of snow, loosened by the earthquakes, toppled from copings of buildings.

The shocks occurred between 5:30 and 6:00 p.m. (mountain standard tim

A blizzard marooned the small town of Ekalaska, in extreme Southeastern Montana. Only two days' food supplies were on hand. The town called upon Governor Elmer Holt for assistance.

Eight to ten-foot snowdrifts blocked the road from Baker to Ekalaska, forty miles, and prevented transportation of about 250 tons of foodstuffs to the snow-locked town of 600 opulation.

British Parliament Against Homework For School Children

Simple Question in Arithmetic Proves Poser to Members—House Decides Recreation at Home Should Not Be Molested

LONDON, Feb. 13 (CP).—The British Parliament lapsed from tense international problems today into a simple arithmetic question posed by a former headmaster. The House was debating a motion declaring school children should not have to do homework in the evening. Their rest and recreation at home should not be molested but all such work should be done during school hours, it was contended.

G. A. Morrison, an experienced teacher, rose to prove to the House that even if weary parents did try to help their children with their homework they were not always much good. He had a "simple arithmetic" question which he had posed to some members before the House met. They had not solved it, so he put it before the House. Here it is:

"A man went into a shoemaker's shop to buy a pair of boots. He selected a pair at sixteen shillings and put down and pound note to pay for them. The shoemaker had no change and went next door to a butcher's and got the change. He came back, with it and gave the boots and four shillings to the customer, who went away. Shortly

REPORT ROUTING OF ITALIAN FORCE

Dispatches From Ethiopian War Zone Tell of Reverses to Attacking Army

ADDIS ABABA, Feb. 13 (CP-Havas).—An attacking force from General Rudolfo Graziani's right wing was routed in the Fafan River Valley and Ras Mulugheta's tribesmen are locked in an encounter with the Blackshirt Northern army near Haunien, dispatches from the war zone said tonight.

Ras Nasibu's Southern forces, engaging the right flank of General Graziani's motorized legions, inflicted heavy losses and forced Italian troops to retreat near Uarandab on the Fafan River in Southeastern Ogaden, according to reports received here from Harar.

Low Temperatures Hold Dominion in Frost King's Grip

From Coast to Coast Canadians Shiver in Freezing Weather—Blizzards Rage in B.C. Interior —Eastern Traffic Tied Up By Snow

(By the Canadian Press)

SNOW smothered the extreme Western and Central parts of Canada overnight, accompanied by bitter cold in British Columbia and a blustering wind in Ontario. A blinding blizzard buffeted Interior British Columbia and the temperature slid below zero. On the Prairies the cold gripping the West for seventeen days showed some signs of relaxing. Southern Alberta reported loss of livestock, and it was 35 below zero in Lethbridge.

Winnipeg yesterday experienced a "thaw" when the mercury climbed from 38 below to a mere 21 below.

Ontario struggled to free clogged highways today. The thick mantle of snow, whisked by the gale, drifted shoulder-high along rural roads, filling in the channels laboriously dug out by snowploughs and highway crews after last week's blizzard.

Eastern Ontario and Quebec expect snow and a rising wind.

Storm conditions off the Nova Scotia coast prevented rescue of some members of the crew of the crippled Boston fisherman Gertrude M. Fauci, who remained aboard the vessel.

Western Ontario felt the full blast of a paralyzing blizzard, which isolated many towns except for railroad communication. Bus companies cancelled services in view of snow-choked highways. Railroad schedules suffered as trains bucked drifts. Fuel supplies ran low in sections of Huron and Bruce Counties.

Sarnia lost highway communication with St. Clair River villages last night. Fuel was reported low at Parkhill.

COLD IN INTERIOR

VANCOUVER, Feb. 13 (CP).—British Columbians hugged their firesides tonight as polar blasts swept over the province again after a week's respite and sent thermometers tumbling well below the zero mark everywhere but the Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island.

The latter districts, however, shivered in temperatures close to record lows of the last cold spell a week ago.

The frigid weather extended into the Southern Interior to Kamloops with a 13 below reading, accompanied by a blizzardy wind that piled up snowdrifts blocking country traffic, then swept north into the Interior where temperatures ranged from 30 below at Wingdam, in the Cariboo, to 54 below in Vanderhoof, the coldest spot in the province.

Other low readings in Central British Columbia included 52 below at Endako, 50 below at Cottonwood House and Redstone, and 47 below at Burns Lake.

FATALITIES MOUNT

CHICAGO, Feb. 13 (AP). — High winds, cold, snow, sleet, rain, fog, dust storms, floods and fires spread death and damage through the United States today.

Fatalities counted to thirty-three. Twenty-eight perished in fires in Lakewood, N.J.; Jackson, Minn.; New York; Charleston, Ill., and Crestview Lodge, Calif. Treacherous highways cost two lives in Indiana. Illinois and South Dakota recorded one exposure death each. A landslide killed a workman on Mt. Lowe, Calif.

Snow and rain fell over 80 per cent of the United States. Western Wyoming experienced the worst blizzard of the Winter. Snow piled toward a near record depth in Montana. Transportation was threatened anew by the heavy fall in many parts of the Mid-West.

Some counties were isloated again in Wisconsin. Eleven towns were still cut off in South Dakota. Red Cross aid was requested. Scores of Michigan communities were in danger of being snowbound once more as tracks and roads drifted shut.

DOWNPOURS IN CALIFORNIA

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13 (AP).—A three-day storm left mild showers and snow flurries in California and a cold wave in the Pacific Northwest today after near-record downpours and damaging winds.

An earth slide on Mt. Lowe, Los Angeles, following heavy rain and a miniature tornado, buried Miguel Valdevie, sixty, power company employee. His body was dug out by fellow workers.

PITILESS FROST AND WINDS BRING DEATH

least another day. One man died of exposure.

Scores of fishing boats were recovered from the shores of the Adriatic, Ionian, Black and Tyrrhenian Seas as the storms abated somewhat.

Italian authorities were checking up on a loss of life which they anticipated might reach forty. The fishing boat Olghetta was found adrift by a tugboat with five bodies aboard.

Many persons were missing in Thrace, where snowdrifts were reported nine feet deep in some places.

In Norway, elk were driven by hunger to the settlements. Heavy snows in the woods prevented them from getting food. Three of them were run down by trains near Oslo and one on Monday delayed a train bearing King Haakon, returning from London following the funeral of King George.

COMMUNICATIONS DISRUPTED

Turkish land and sea communications were disrupted by heavy snow and rain storms. Two hundred small craft anchored off Istanbul were driven ashore. In Asia Minor considerable flooding was reported.

Two were drowned and heavy damage done along the Lebanon coast, and at Tripoli a hangar housing several airplanes was wrecked.

DR. HERBERT MAXWELL HAS DIED IN ENGLAND

LADYSMITH, Feb. 13.—The death is reported from Somerset, England, of Dr. Herbert B. Maxwell, who was in practice here for several years. Dr. Maxwell was a well-known practitioner in British Columbia, particularly in Vancouver and Vancouver Island, before returning to England a few years ago.

terior to cope with imminent developments.

TUMULT IN CHAMBER

Debate on the Franco-Soviet Treaty was adjourned amid tumult in the Chamber of Deputies as M. Sarraut expressed his deep concern over the assault and called the Cabinet into emergency session.

Dissolution of the League of the Action Francaise, the picturesque Camelots du Roi ("King's Henchmen") body and the Royalist Students Society, was decreed under the new law empowering the Government to dissolve any political league threatening the security of the republic.

ARRESTS DEMANDED

Socialist leaders, alarmed at the gravity of Blum's injuries, demanded the arrest of Leon Daudet and Charles Maurras, Royalist leaders, as instigators of the plot to assault Blum.

However, persons close to the Premier tonight said the arrest of political leaders is not being considered "at present."

FROZEN TURTLE RECOVERS LIFE

How long will a turtle remain frozen and still retain life? This is the question Morris Kersey, well-known restauranteur, is asking his friends these days.

Returning from a trip to Portland yesterday, he found his pet turtle frozen solid in the bowl. Apparently the turtle had been in this condition for three days.

Intending to throw the turtle away, Mr. Kersey forgot his intention, and when he returned home yesterday evening to a warm house, the turtle was alive and well in his thawed out abode.

British Campaigners—At a regular meeting of the executive committee of the British Campaigners' Association, it was suggested that the association commemorate the thirty-fifth anniversary of the Boer War by holding a dinner on Saturday, February 29. The secretary will be pleased to forward tickets to all who wish to attend. Applications should be made to W. J. Edwards, 1762 Carrick Street, G 5929.

Given Musical Treat—Members of the Rotary Club, at their luncheon meeting yesterday in the Empress Hotel, were treated to a quarter of an hour of specially-selected music, in which Madame Claudet, vocalist, and Miss Helen Ockenden, pianist, took part. Both artists were heartily applauded, and at the conclusion of the programme were presented with bouquets by President H. J. Pendray. They were introduced by Major Harry Watts, who praised the work of the visitors at the luncheon.

Fined for Assault—In the police court yesterday Magistrate Jay disposed of the assault charge laid against Joe Gum and Joe Bun of having attacked Luk Hoy on February 6. A piece of wood was produced by the defendants, who were represented by T. M. Miller, and a dispute arose as to who had used the stick. Luk Hoy showed a scar which he said was caused by the accused. The magistrate found the two accused guilty and fined them each $10, with $2.50 costs.

FAMILY OF SEXTONS FOR FIVE CENTURIES

LONDON (BUP).—For nearly 500 years, ever since 1440, the post of sexton to the historic church of St. Mary and St. Gabriel, at Stoke Gabriel, Devon, has been held by members of the Narracott family.

The latest appointment is that of G. C. M. Narracott, who, at the age of twenty-one, is claimed as the youngest sexton in Great Britain. His forbears were neighbors of Sir Walter Raleigh and Sir Humphrey Gilbert.

All the Narracott family, it is said, have lived in the same cottage.

MRS. J. H. LE PAGE CALLED TO REST

Had Resided in Victoria for Thirty-Eight Years—Funeral Service On Monday

Mrs. Nellie M. Le Page, aged forty-seven years, wife of J. L. Le Page, Victoria optician, passed away yesterday in Royal Jubilee Hospital. She was born in Port Angeles, and came to this city thirty-eight years ago. News of her passing will be received with regret by a wide circle of friends.

She is survived by her husband, and two daughters, Misses Doris Nellie Priscilla and Marilynn Le Page at the family residence, 1034 Sutlej Street; two sons, David Harold Lemuel, Powell River, B.C. and Morley Rushworth, Oshawa, Ontario; one brother, Alfred Rushworth, Vancouver, and two sisters, Mrs. Emily Raymond, Seattle and Mrs. John C. Wood, in Missouri.

Funeral services will be conducted in the chapel of Sands Mortuary, Limited, on Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Press Ball Ready for Valentine

Nothing remains to be done except for the public to attend the Press Club's annual Valentine Ball this evening at the Empress Hotel.

The stunts are ready, the diamond ring is ready and so is the Press Gang, so be there early if you do not wish to miss any of the fun.

Dancing will start at 9 o'clock and continue until 2 a.m., with an interval for supper. Tickle's Orchestra will provide the music.

There are still a few tickets left, which may be secured at the Empress Hotel desk, the newspaper offices, Clubb's, tobacconist, or some of the news reporters.

HAS PLANS FOR PUBLIC WORKS

Supplementary Estimates to Provide for Road Building As Relief Measure

OTTAWA, Feb. 13 (CP).—The Government is working on an extensive public works programme as an unemployment relief measure, it was learned today. The main estimates brought down on Tuesday were intended to provide for the cost of government under normal conditions and extraordinary expenditures due to existing circumstances will be met in other ways.

Consideration will be given to proposals for public works which would directly or indirectly produce revenue. The Government is not expected to agree to any considerable public works which would not produce revenue, such as public buildings.

ROADS AND HARBORS

Among the type of works said to be favored are harbor improvements, road building, which would encourage tourist traffic, and perhaps assistance to the railways to enable them to increase their revenues and compete better with improved travel conditions on United States lines.

At the recent Dominion-Provincial Conference it was suggested the Dominion and provinces join not only in the Trans-Canada Highway, but in roads designated as feeders to this highway. It is expected this proposal will be given particular study.

Big Cougars Are Shot by Hunter Near Watershed

Trailed after killing several deer, three large cougars were bagged recently by Chris Behnsen, well-known cougar hunter, of Shawnigan Lake. The cougars were brought to town yesterday and were on display at Elves' Lawn Mower Store, 1423 Broad Street.

The largest of the three, a male, weighing over 150 pounds, measured eight feet two inches from tip to tip. The two others, both females, weighed about 100 and 85 pounds, respectively. Both measured approximately seven feet. They were caught on the Sooke watershed.

LIBERAL GROUP GIVES CONCERT

Ward Four Presents Amateur Hour—J. B. Clearihue Addresses Members

An evening of entertainment and speeches was enjoyed by members of Ward Four Liberal Association at headquarters rooms, Government Street, Wednesday night, when the social committee presented an amateur concert arranged similar to a radio broadcast with William H. Kinsman as announcer and adjudicator, assisted by H. Applegate. C. E. Copeland, president, was general chairman.

Prior to the concert, the members listened to an address by J. B. Clearihue on the apprenticeship system in general and a short sketch of the Apprenticeship Act of British Columbia to shortly go into effect. C. J. McDowell also spoke briefly on Federal and Provincial matters.

APPRENTICESHIP SYSTEM

Mr. Clearihue gave a review of the early apprenticeship system in vogue in England before the introduction of guilds and the changes that followed the industrial revolution and the introduction of machinery to British industry. He said, concerning modern industry, it would appear that there were too many young men employed in industries who were not receiving proper training with the result many found themselves out of employment because of their inability to keep pace with modern methods of production.

The speaker outlined, very briefly, the main points in the British Columbia act, the method of administration, contracts between employer and apprentices, the scale of wages and the crafts to which the act applied. He declared, in his opinion, the act was an advanced step in the problem of placing the younger people in trades where they could receive a thorough training in the craft selected.

AMATEUR CONCERT

Following the address, the amateur hour was presented and the following artists took part: Miss H. Stubbs, G. Read, Mr. Green and party, Miss Bunty Applegate, Adele Ramsay, E. Holt, Ward Four quartette, Miss Elsie Friend, H. Applegate, Mr. Harrison, D. Nelson and H. Kettle.

After the programme, prizes were presented and refreshments served by the ladies' committee.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT AGAINST HOME WORK

afterwards the butcher rushed into the bootmaker and said: 'This is a bad pound note.' The shoemaker had to give him a good one. How much did the shoemaker lose?"

"I have had eleven different answers to the problem," went on Mr. Morrison.

"Two pounds," said Sir Joseph Lamb (Conservative, Stone).

THE ANSWER

"Wrong," Morrison retorted. According to mathematical experts, the answer is four shillings and a pair of boots. I also have a recollection," continued Morrison, "of parents bringing to me complaints about the amount of homework their children had.

"It seemed to me that sometimes the cause of complaint was that the parents had not been able to do it themselves. I could also tell the House of a distinguished public servant who makes no secret of the fact that one night he helped his daughter do two problems and was told the next day they were both wrong."

Aided by this weighty discourse the House solemnly passed the resolution. Oliver Stanley, president of the Board of Education, declared Government inspectors were now investigating the whole problem of homework.

Ladysmith School Vacancy Is Filled

LADYSMITH, Feb. 13—Waiving discussion on the technicalities of a much-debated motion, the Board of School Trustees met here last evening to complete the appointment to the vacancy on the public school staff.

Edward Robinson, of Victoria, was selected from a list of eight applications, and has commenced his duties at the school. As usual the preliminary appointment is until the end of the school term.

FARM income of all kinds will show an increase of probably $200,000,000 over 1934 and $325,000,000 over 1933. Canadian gold, silver, copper, nickel and the baser metals are commanding profitable prices and reaching the markets of the world. Manufacturers in many lines report a distinct upswing in business for 1935. Retail trade during the Christmas season reports a gratifying increase throughout Canada. Greatest of all, we, an unarmed country, continue to live in peace and security with our neighbours.

On Saturday, January 11, we moved into our new Head Office building at the heart of Toronto's financial district—the southeast corner of King and Bay Streets. This building of Canadian construction and practically all Canadian material, will afford an interesting study for its technical equipment as well as for the modern design which reflects the best tendencies of present-day architecture the world over.

Sense of Values Points Out Need Of New Education

Dr. Henrietta Anderson Draws Attention to Some Practical Ideals in Training of Young People —Dr. H. M. Cassidy Also Addresses Annual Meeting of Women's Council

INCULCATION of the idea of the dignity of service; recognition of the need of training youth, in the use of leisure time, that is likely to increase more and more as economic conditions are moving rapidly toward shorter hours of labor; the need of a technical school for girls; development of healthful hobbies; an awakening to the idea that boys and girls should be taught not only to earn a living but also to live. These were some of the points mentioned by Dr. Henrietta Anderson, of the Provincial Normal School staff, Mount Tolmie, in her address to the annual meeting of the Local Council of Women yesterday afternoon.

VALUE OF DEPRESSION

"The depression has done a good deal to modify our sense of values," she declared at one point. One friend told her that it had shown her that she could go to school in the dress she formerly thought suitable only for gardening. Another maintained the depression years were really the only normal times and that the previous years were the abnormal ones.

Now that times were apparently on the upward trend once more, she was a little bit concerned lest the world would proceed to make all the old mistakes. It was rather terrible to realize that it had needed a thing like the Great War to bring out the unselfish qualities of people; on the other hand, it was uplifting to have seen, as she had seen it in the Old Land, the marvelous release of high ideals that had taken place at that time, side by side with the horrors of war. Unless bodies like the Local Council of Women threw themselves into the balance on the side of such ideals, the lessons of the depression would be lost.

PEOPLE ARE GOVERNMENT

It was easy to be against the Government. Governments had shown a singular lack of sense of values. Some years ago the Government had made a big appropriation for the propagation of salmon, at about the same time as it had made a distinct cut in the grant for the institution for the care of the insane.

There was also something wrong with the sense of values when classes in home economics were cut out of the curriculum as luxuries at a time when economy became necessary. Seventy-five per cent of school children, the speaker said, were hand-minded, and mercifully so, as that proportion were needed to carry on the necessary world's work for the other 25 per cent of professionally-minded. Dr. Anderson's deduction from this was that one of the urgently-needed things in British Columbia was a technical school for girls—a statement that was received with applause.

"If we do not keep these hand-minded boys and girls busy in school with some kind of technical work such as manual training and household economics, we will be faced with the problem of keeping them in some other kind of institution eventually," she argued.

WARDS OF COMMUNITY

Children were the wards, not only of their parents, but of the whole community, in this sense. Such a body as the Local Council of Women could bring pressure to bear on the Government. The people, after all were the Government.

Boys and girls had been so obsessed with the idea of getting out to earn a living; that they had not been able to live. In the new curriculum, being drawn up, that phase would be abundantly taken care of. Those at the head of the educational system were becoming more and more alive to these things and to the fact that life, in the future, would offer conditions demanding education for leisure, the cultivation of hobbies. Dr. Anderson heralded with delight the prospect of the return of the old apprenticeship system and all that this implied in the training of skilled craftsmen.

Sacrifice and Service should be the password of every school.

Dr. H. M. Cassidy, in his informative fifteen-minute talk on "Progress in Public Health," gave further interesting facts about the proposed Health Insurance Bill that is to come before the next session of the Legislature.

He also touched on the general health programme as conducted in British Columbia under Dr. H. E. Young's direct supervision. This province had a fine record in health, largely due to Dr. Young's splendid pioneer work. He held a unique position among the health officers of the Dominion. After some years, during which the Government had shown a disinclination to spend any more money than they had to in health service, the province was again moving forward, and Dr. Cassidy foresaw a much improved condition in the not distant future. The past year alone had witnessed many valuable extensions in the service among the additions being a full-time health unit in the Peace River block; the installation of a model health programme in another of the Inland areas; institution of a dental service in Nelson, the Fraser Valley and Peace River country, and reorganization of the vital statistics branch of the Board of Health along preventive lines. Even on Vancouver Island the nursing service had been extended.

IMPORTANT WORK

But most important of the past year's achievements had been the reorganization of T.B. control, under which all T.B. beds in the province were "pooled," this aiming at the most efficient service possible and the availability of all beds. In this connection, Dr. Cassidy spoke of what was being done by Dr. F. Kincaid here.

Other progressive work was being carried out in the field of mental hygiene. This was an improvement over the past method in that cases were taken in the incipient stage and treated before they "cracked" mentally. The first mental hygiene clinic was established in Vancouver in 1931, but the service had now extended to Victoria, Nanaimo and Chilliwack. Further extension would take place.

Work Will Start Monday on Chalet At Beacon Hill

WORK will be started on the construction of the lookout chalet at Beacon Hill Park on Monday morning. It was announced yesterday by Alderman Edward Williams, chairman of the city's relief committee.

G. M. Irwin, city engineer, was at the site yesterday laying out the ground for the work, which will be carried out as a relief project in a comprehensive scheme to beautify the waterfront.

KING GOVERNMENT GIVEN BIG MAJORITY

times in Parliamentary history that an Address motion has passed without division, and it was believed the Government's majority of 200 in turning back the amendment was one of the largest in circumstances of that kind.

With the Address out of the way, the House will go into committee tomorrow on money votes, a long, routine procedure. Main estimates this year total $384,000,000.

Liberals withdrew from the Address debate today, most of the time being taken by C.C.F. and Social Credit speakers.

WILL BE INVESTIGATED

Charges that wheat exporters in Winnipeg rushed to the telephone to secure orders from Liverpool to take advantage of revaluations of the Wheat Board, will be investigated by the Parliamentary committee that probes operations of the board.

E. E. Perley (Cons.-Qu'Appelle), relayed the allegations to the House, and gave his opinion that they were correct. Finance Minister Dunning said they would be included in the Parliamentary investigation, but added his opinion that they were groundless.

M. J. Coldwell (C.C.F., Rosetown-Biggar), also referred to the wheat charges. He said he had heard that millions of bushels changed hands as a result of the Argentine action. He wanted to know to whom it was sold and why. The people of the West believed they were being handed over "to their enemies, the Grain Exchange," and would expect a full investigation.

EXPLAINS ATTITUDE

P. J. Rowe (S.C.-Athabaska), said there was confusion regarding the attitude of the Social Credit group to the Throne Speech. "We believe," he added, "the time for co-operation has come and we are supporting the motion (to adopt the Speech) because the Speech indicates many great reforms, although it does not contain, in our estimation, an adequate and permanent solution to our economic ills."

T. A. Thompson (Cons.-Lanark), said it would be madness for Canada to drop its tariff bars. If English-manufactured goods were allowed to sweep into Canada it would destroy the industrial fabric of the whole country.

SCIENTIFIC STUDENTS

J. S. Taylor (C.C.F.-Nanaimo), accused the House of indulging in "childish stone-throwing" so far this session. It was a revelation to him as a new member. He called the C.C.F. members not Conservatives or Liberals, but "scientific students of economics."

The capitalistic system is dying, the Nanaimo member declared. Canadian institutions must be rebuilt on a firm basis of co-operation where human values would predominate. C.C.F. members, Mr. Taylor said, should not be classed with Communists and anarchists. It was an attempt to deride them.

DIED AT NANAIMO

NANAIMO, Feb. 13.—Louis Struchel, sixty, died at an early hour this morning in Nanaimo Hospital. He had resided here for twenty-eight years. No known relatives survive.

MOVING TO QUAMICHAN

Rev. T. M. Hughes Accepts Offer to Take Charge of Parish Up-Island

After fourteen years of successful service in the parish of North Saanich and Sidney, Rev. Thomas Melville Hughes has accepted the offer of the Bishop of Columbia to take charge of the parish of St. Peter's congregation, Quamichan, and St Andrew's congregation, Cowichan.

On account of the illness of Archdeacon Collison, the care of this parish has for some time been taken by Rev. H. F. Napier, of Duncan, who will continue in charge until the arrival of the new rector in May. This parish is one of the strongest of the Up-Island section of the diocese.

ORDAINED IN 1916

Mr. Hughes has been connected with the Diocese of Columbia for twenty years, having been ordained by Rt. Rev. C. D. Schofield in 1916, after his graduation from the Anglican Theological College, Vancouver, from which he holds the degree of Licentiate of Theology. During 1916-17, he was a curate at St. Paul's Vancouver, from which he came to Christ Church Cathedral, to which he was attached for the four years from 1917 to 1921.

More than a year was spent in his native shire of Devon, where his father is a clergyman, as curate at Wolborough, Newton Abbot, Devon. In June, 1922, he came to the North Saanich work, which includes the church at Sidney and Holy Trinity Church at Patricia Bay.

SUCCESSFUL PASTORATE

With his coming the parish became self-supporting and its minister a rector. Success has attended his work throughout the pastorate of fourteen years. The progress of Holy Trinity was reviewed in this paper at the time of its jubilee in June last. In the Spring of 1921, the chancel was renovated and the outside of the church repaired. In 1927 all the windows in the church were equipped with tinted glass, each window being a memorial presented by a family.

ALAN CRAWLEY LECTURES HERE

Noted Winnipeg Critic Addresses Victoria Branch of Authors' Association

For the second time in the last twelve months, members of the Victoria Branch of the Canadian Authors' Association heard and thoroughly enjoyed an address by Alan Crawley, of Winnipeg. Mr. Crawley is spending a short holiday in Victoria and was the guest of the Victoria branch at its meeting last night.

"Modern English Poets" was the title of Mr. Crawley's address, which contained a general criticism of a number of the poets now coming to the fore in the Mother Country, with a mention of some of the influences being brought into postwar literature. He was particularly frank with his opinion that, above all, postwar poetry and prose were stimulative and spoke in everyday language, although, in some instances, it had not been immediately recognized, or accepted, by the critics, who still preferred old school standards.

MODERN TRENDS

Mr. Crawley claimed most of the postwar poets had fallen under the influence, to some extent, of the older poets, and he mentioned three who commanded attention from the student of expressive poetry: Manly Hopkins, Wilfred Owen and T. S. Eliot, an American who is contributing much to English literature at the present time. Mr. Crawley gave two of Hopkins' poems, "Mas Megnificat" and "Peace." He placed Joyce and Lawrence among the best of the prose writers.

As typical of the trend of modern poetry, Mr. Crawley mentioned C. P. Sassoon, pacifist and a rabid writer against war. He recited five of the six short poems in Sassoon's "Road to Ruin," without titles, but in sequence and related. The poems were characteristic of the writer and presented, in fine language, that side of war so aptly expressed by the title, "Road to Ruin." The poet also showed fine lyrical strength in his love poems, Mr. Crawley said.

Miss Eugenie Perry, president, was in the chair and reminded the members that Canada now had its own poetry magazine, published in Toronto. She also mentioned that five of the branch's members had poems printed in the first edition of the new periodical. During the evening, Miss Enid Cole gave a short talk on producing a one-act play and also presented a monologue. Mrs. Thomas Floyd sang two solos with Mrs. Pebernat at the piano.

DETAILS OF POLICING AGREEMENT GIVEN TO SASKATCHEWAN HOUSE

REGINA, Feb. 13 (C.P.).—Details of the agreement between the Dominion Government and Saskatchewan for the services of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police were revealed in the Legislature today, by Hon. T. C. Davis, K.C., Attorney-General.

By the terms of the new agreement, the province will pay over a period of the next seven years, $250,000 for the first year, $250,000 for the second year, and $275,000 for the five years succeeding.

The old agreement called for an annual payment of $230,000 for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to take the place of Provincial Police in Saskatchewan.

Mrs. G. A. B. Hall Called to Rest

NANAIMO, Feb. 13.—Mrs. G. A. B. Hall, sixty-three, wife of Dr. G. A. B. Hall, died in Nanaimo Hospital shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon, following a brief illness. Dr. Shinbein, of Vancouver, had been hastily summoned, but, despite all that could be done, Mrs. Hall passed away from an attack of acute indigestion.

Mrs. Hall was born in Quesnel, coming with her parents to Nanaimo in her early girlhood. She attended school here, later teaching, and after her marriage, lived in both Vancouver and Victoria, before coming back to Nanaimo. Besides her husband, she leaves three sons, Dr. Norman Hall, Nanaimo; Dr. Alan Hall, Montreal, and Dr. Earle Hall, Vancouver. Her mother, Mrs. E. Lynn, of Victoria; two sisters, Mrs. Lester Patrick, New York, and Miss Poole, of Victoria, and a brother, Alex Poole, Vancouver, also survive. The remains repose at the Chapman Funeral Home pending funeral arrangements.

RIOTING IN SYRIA CONTINUES SERIOUS

BEIRUT, Syria, Feb. 13 (AP).—Nationalists, undaunted by the worst rainstorms in fifty years, continued rioting today at Aleppo, and one student was killed after demonstrators stormed street cars. Another was wounded.

Women of leading families of Damascus, along with merchants, asked Mohammed Abed, President of the Syrian Republic, to use his influence to end "repressive" French measures and grant amnesty to convicted rioters. He refused until the disorders are stopped.

WOMEN PETITIONERS SEEK FREE CLINICS FOR BIRTH CONTROL

VANCOUVER, Feb. 13 (C.P.).—A petition sponsored by the Women's Labor League and signed by 2,000 women of British Columbia, asking for free Government-controlled birth-control clinics, will be forwarded to Victoria soon, it was announced here today.

Mrs. Dorothy Steeves, M.P.P., spoke in favor of the movement at a meeting of the society here, declaring that clinics "should be taken out of the realm of class privilege." She warned, however, that there is a tremendous social prejudice to be overcome.

POLITICAL CONTROL

In the outline of governmental legislation foreshadowed for the present session at Ottawa, the Parliament is informed that: "You will be asked to consider amendments to existing legislation respecting the Canadian National Railways, which will serve to afford a greater measure of governmental authority and responsibility to Parliament." This is tantamount to saying that national ownership of railways is to be brought again under political control and under the system of party patronage. That control and that patronage in the past added substantially to the deficits which the Canadian National Railways experienced under a former Liberal regime.

This question of the resumption of political control of the nationally-owned transportation system is all that the present Government has so far offered towards a solution of one of Canada's greatest problems. In fact, there are prospects of that problem becoming aggravated as it was through extravagant expenditures under the former Government of Mr. Mackenzie King. The national railways are now administered by a Board of Trustees, a recommendation put into effect following the findings of the Royal Commission headed by Mr. Justice Duff. That recommendation was specifically designed to remove the railways from political control, which had been tried in the balance and found wanting. When that recommendation was considered in Parliament the Liberal Party offered no objections, save voicing some reservations affecting the power of the Government and Parliament, and these were incorporated in the legislation. What Mr. Mackenzie King now wants restored is those very powers which were so instrumental in bringing the railway problem to its present impasse.

It could be thought that the whole power of the Government should be brought to bear on solving the railway problem, not on making it more intense. There is no proposal made towards a solution. The Government is anxious to secure the control that it exercised in the past, and there are many who believe that the design is to make the nationally-owned railway system a part of the Liberal machine through the exercise of patronage. It is an unfortunate decision and a retrograde step that is contemplated. The Canadian National Railways should be removed even farther than at present from all chance of political interference.

FACT AND FICTION IN BANKING

The report of the Chairman of Barclay's Bank which appears in The London Spectator or January 24, contains a passage upon the subject of bank loans and deposits which should prove interesting to those who place a higher value upon the knowledge of experts than upon the guesses and suspicions and "opinions" of mere amateurs. Moderation and caution usually characterize the statements of professional bankers when giving to their shareholders and the public generally an account of the year's operations. Their words are usually weighty and well chosen. They do not indulge in violent rhetoric but on the contrary are inclined to understate their case rather than overstate it.

The Chairman, Mr. W. Favill Tuke, went pretty fully into the matter of the ratio of cash to deposits in the bank's balance sheet, and perhaps the exact words used on the occasion will serve the interests of clarity better than a paraphrase or summary. He said in part: "There are certain definite limits to an expansion in bankers' assets. As I have pointed out, a net increase in the assets of the banks increases deposits, but deposits are a liability against which the need for liquidity makes it essential that the banks should hold an adequate proportion of cash. There is, therefore, a definite restriction upon the ability of the commercial banks to raise the total of deposits, for the control of the cash base of the country is not in their hands, but in those of the Bank of England, which in turn operates subject to such limitations as result from the statutory restrictions upon the issue of legal tender money."

Turning next to consider the position of an individual bank, the Chairman said that there was still less justification for the extravagant and dangerous misconceptions which have arisen, and continued: "Statements which have been made from time to time are capable of the interpretation that all a bank has to do when it wishes to increase its own deposits, is to buy an investment, make an advance, or discount a bill; but if it were possible for a bank to create deposits for itself without cost or limit, it would be absurd for the banks to endeavor to attract deposits by the payment of interest and by the rendering of many valuable services to their customers. In actual fact, just as it is true that every net increase in banking assets increases deposits, so is it true that an individual bank can only continue to lend so long as it continues to receive deposits from its customers. Having increased its deposits by the granting of a loan or by any other operation, the bank does not retain any ownership or right in such deposit. The amount can be drawn out in cash or paid into another bank, and in either case the first bank's holding of cash would be reduced and its ratio of cash to deposits would fall. If this process were not arrested the bank's business would soon come to an end. Consequently it is only by attracting deposits to itself that it can continue to function, and to provide the many services upon which the smooth working of the trade and industry of the country depends. The primary function of a bank is to mobilize or make liquid the assets of its customers, and the suggestion so often made that a bank creates credit out of nothing is therefore definitely incorrect; in the final analysis the granting of credit by a bank represents the exchange of one form of debt for another."

This moderate but clear statement of the case may excite the anger and confirm the stubbornness of some of our busiest agitators. In the morose lexicon of the radical agitator there is no such word as tolerance. To become convinced of this, one has but to note the uncompromising tone and manner of those social reformers who think that they have found a sovereign cure for this or that disorder or dislocation in politics or economics, in legislation or finance. There is, in the speeches and writings of these agitators, an aggressive and militant pugnacity, a robustious cocksureness, an immense appetite for controversy, and a tendency to rely upon the vociferous repetition of unverified "facts," exploded theories and sham axioms.

CHOPPING AND CHANGING

There never yet was a piece of legislation in prospect in this province so subject to chopping and changing as that being devised to bring compulsory state health insurance into effect. If it is possible to believe the viewpoints expressed by its protagonists, their minds are in a continuous state of flux. This is an evidence of indecision; moreover, it is strange commentary on the fact that so much time has been exhausted and so much money poured out in endeavors to ascertain, from experience elsewhere, all about this form of legislation. The only goal which the proponents of the scheme hold steadily in view is that its application must be compulsory. That is the feature of the legislation that has raised the strongest objection.

Under compulsory state health insurance, a large section of the people of British Columbia are to be forced into expenditures, which, the presumption is, they will be able to afford since the moneys are to be collected willy nilly. If they can afford to pay the moneys, then they can do so for their own benefit as matters stand. They can acquire all, and more than all, that the Provincial Government promises through the medium of insurance companies or fraternal organizations. Best of all, they can, by proper budgeting of their finances, have money laid aside for days of sickness. Any way other than that of compulsion is a better way than being subjected to state bureaucracy. It has been found throughout experience that the best process of liquidating domestic difficulties is through individual effort. The greater freedom man can acquire from governmental control, the greater individual liberty there is, and there is nothing that appeals to true manhood more than liberty. The present-day process of swaddling and dandling humanity is a definite obstacle to the formation of character and to the development of resourcefulness among the people.

It is told in London how many people were puzzled on the occasion of the Proclamation of the Accession of King Edward VIII because, although the King of Arms, heralds pursuivants and their cavalcade were met by the Lord Mayor and retinue at the barrier at Temple Bar, yet the Proclamation was made some distance farther on, at the southwest corner of Chancery Lane. The explanation is that such proclamation has been made at the very same spot for nearly 700 years. It is the first crossroads "within the gates" on that side of the City of London. Moreover, there is nowhere else a similar spot going back over so many centuries.

The Toronto Globe says that newspaper editors should know good poetry because they see so much of the other kind. Isn't that a reason why their judgments may be warped into a belief that there is no such thing as good poetry. One of the most delicate operations in an editor's life is putting reasons into diplomatic words in explaining why a poetic effusion is not printed. It is a delicate task, graced often, it is to be feared, with some very white lies.

A first essential of public speaking or broadcasting is a good set of natural teeth. The same may often be very useful for gnashing purposes in the agony sometimes sustained from the spoken word.

Public opinion, though often formed upon a wrong basis, yet generally has a strong underlying sense of justice.—Abraham Lincoln.

Note and Comment

By R. S. D.

Excellent wretch! Perdition catch my soul,
But I do love thee! and when I love thee not,
Chaos is come again!

—Shakespeare.

Many a poet has sung about the thrill of love's young dream. But poets are notoriously inconstant. They may experience the exquisite thrill more than once in the course of their lives, but prosaic persons, lacking imagination, are usually constant and true to their first loves, like the fabled swan, which mates but once, and if death intervenes sings its swan song. We suspect, however, that the swan is a member of the goose family.

The above random and irrelevant thoughts were engendered in our mind by reading the first reports of the Parliamentary proceedings at Ottawa. The idea may seem far-fetched, but actually there may be an indirect connection between politicians and members of the goose family. The goose is wily, but it is destitute of any sense of humor. The average politician is wily, but there is no fund of humor in him. He gets up in his place in the legislature and gravely delivers the same old speeches year after year, with the gravity of a reverent old gander, or the solemnity of a blinking old owl.

The dispatches tell us that two of the distinguished leaders of political thought and repositories of political principles in the Dominion Parliament discoursed eloquently on the beauties of family life. Both are bachelors, and if they ever have experienced the exquisite thrill of love's young dream, there is no physical proof that anything more substantial than a dream resulted from the penetration of the shaft of the blind god. The humor or the irony of the incident did not appear to cause a ripple of laughter in the serried ranks of the parliamentary politicians. Even the satirical bachelor lady member of the House missed a rare opportunity to puncture with her mordant wit the pretensions, or the false sentiments, of the leader of the Opposition and the leader of the Government. Surely it cannot be that time has dulled the edge of our friend Agnes' once keen sense of the humorous and the ridiculous.

But our friend Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King did not fail us. He has told us more than once how he, single-handed, achieved the independence of Canada, and brought back from tyrannical England Canada's Charter of Liberty, and how he is as jealous and vigilantly guarding it as the sacred Ark of the Covenant used to be guarded by the Chosen People. He also has told us times almost without number that he is the champion defender and custodian of the principles of Liberalism (whatever them is, quoting from a speech of another eminent champion of the principles of Liberalism).

We read much in the papers about Social Credit, which we admit we do not know very much about. The Prime Minister becomes almost eloquent when he speaks on the subject of political credit. Cynics may call politics a deleterious profession, even a discredited profession. Mr. King declares politics to be a distinguished profession, and he is one of the political professors. Mr. King declares that if it had not been for himself and one of his equally distinguished political colleagues the world today might have been plunged into another general and devastating war.

In case you may not have read about the crisis facing Europe and the world, you surely must have read something about an ugly word called sanctions. You must have read about sanctions, because the League of Nations has been discussing sanctions for months, whether to apply sanctions or not to apply them. The League could not make up its mind to apply sanctions because of the ugly scowl of Mussolini when a daring Canadian moved a resolution that sanctions should be applied immediately. Think of that, a daring Canadian boldly taking the lead in a mad world and doing something likely to involve Canada in another world war.

Fortunately for the peace of the world and the autonomy of Canada, the Acting Prime Minister of this nation read about the terrible faux pas, and disavowed responsibility for the act of his accredited but impetuous representative. Mr. King says he prevented another war in Europe, but whatever credit may be due, it is due to Hon. Ernest Lapointe, representing the views of France and the French part of Canada. Mr. King happened to be sojourning in the United States at the time of the incident, but when he returned from his holiday he "sanctioned" the action of his deputy, and in the House the other day took all the credit to himself of preventing another war. The gravity of the gander is not exceeded by the gravity of Mr. King when he ponderously gathers to himself all the political "kudos" which happen to be fluttering around. Not a single goose in the House uttered a cackle when the leader of the assembly gravely assured them that he had saved the world from another disastrous war. Mr. King has a proper idea of the dignity of his office. He has a soaring conception of his own importance.

Learning a Lesson

Minus Babe Ruth, former Sultan of the Swat, the New York Yankees are reported to have played to 250,000 fewer customers in 1935. This number, it is estimated, would have paid approximately $100,000 at the gate, and the Babe's highest salary with the Yanks was $80,000, which would mean a profit of $20,000. Simple arithmetic seems to indicate that the management of the New York Club did a poor stroke of business when it decided to get along without the services of Mr. Ruth. Even Ruth as a coach or assistant manager would still draw them into the park he himself built for Colonel Jake Ruppert and Company by his prodigious home-run slugging.—J.D.

Orses and Autos

A popular horsewoman remarked that she learned to ride while quite young. "I used to carry a bag of oats tied to a short rope on the saddle, and when I wanted to dismount I threw down the oats and slid off the horse's neck when he stooped to sniff them," she said. "I mounted by jumping on the bag and pulling it up after me," she added, amid laughter . . . Two automobiles came hurtling down Yates Street, one of them trailing along at the end of a tow rope. Another machine shot across Yates at Cook Street right between the two other cars. A spectator watched and expected to see a triple wreck. But the tow rope parted in two places and the crossing automobile carried it victoriously away. The scene ended with two men giving new versions of the English language . . . A man who is haled as the maker of traffic rules, parked his automobile against a "No parking" sign and walked off. A few feet away he turned in several directions to see if there were any spectators. There were. He returned and moved the automobile away from the sign . . . A man who drives over the Malahat early every morning reports a new traffic hazard. He says the snow brought down so many deer on the highway that at times he has to almost get out of his hack and drive them away.—G.B.

The Problem Child

Per capita statistics are much favored in official circles to prove this or that, or occasionally to disprove two other things. A recent computation dealing with children's welfare went through an exhaustive argument to arrive out at the other end with the figure .357 of a child. But what can be done with decimal three-five-seven of a child? The child won't go to sleep if .643 is to remain awake. One could take the .643 bit to a picture show, but the .357 part would surely complain. People, anyhow, have a yearning for perfection. If the child is "not all there" it must be a problem child and not an average child at all.—S.G.

Seben Come Eleben

I see where a man in New England has seven daughters and seven sons, seven of whom are blondes and seven brunettes, seven married and seven unmarried, and the youngster seven years old. That gentleman should go in seriously for crap shooting for his luck is bound to continue along that "seven" mark, and that's what counts when it comes to rolling the ivories.—J.D.

The diner addressed the waiter.

"This chicken was hatched in an incubator."

"How do you know that, sir?"

"Because no bird that had known a mother's tender care could turn out as tough as this."

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of February 14, 1886.)

The Telegraph—The high wind has completely demoralized the telegraph service, and there has been no communication with American territory since last Wednesday. The wires on the Island have also been rather erratic in their services. One hundred and twelve fallen trees were taken off the line between Cowichan and Nanaimo on Friday and there was a suspension of work yesterday. In the evening the line was working to New Westminster, but is still down south of the border.

Orchestra at the Theatre—The following selections were played at the Victoria Theatre last evening by Professors Palmer and Haynes, quadrille band: Overture, "Italiance"; waltz, "Mikado"; selection, "Il Trovatore"; waltz, "Sweet Bitter"; polka, "Tabby"; quadrille, "Merry Duchess."

St. Valentine's Day—Today is February 14, and love missives, embellished with Cupids, stricken hearts and a variety of sentiment, are carried by the postal system to every quarter of the globe. It is the day of all days, when the love-sick swain ventures on writing verses, or shy but willing Barkises send confessions of their admiration to the perhaps as willing objects of their love.

Letters to the Editor

No letter to the Editor will be inserted except over the proper signature and address of the writer. This rule admits of no exception. No letter should exceed 500 words in length.

CANADA'S FOREIGN POLICY

Sir,—The weekly broadcast from Ottawa, discussing Canadian foreign policy, especially in regard to the League of Nations, will be sent out every Thursday at 6 p.m. on and after February 20 instead of at 6:30 p.m. as hitherto (station CRCV). As Canada is a member of the League of Nations, she is of course, committed to the terms of its covenant; but the precise policy by which her Government should implement its ideals is amongst the questions considered in these broadcasts.

These broadcast discussions are designed particularly to be of service to those who would like to do their bit in promoting peace in the world, but are not sure how best they can do it.

H. G. WYATT

CHARACTER AND SELF-RELIANCE

Sir,—May I express a very earnest appreciation of the excellent letter in your issue of The Daily Colonist of February 8 by Miss Dora Kitto on the subject, "Road to Health." Her quotation from Dr. Robert Hutchinson on that matter is most pertinent, especially in these days of "fussiness" about practically everything. Also, when Dr. Hutchinson says "A country's greatest asset is character," how truly he "hits the nail on the head," and what an example of character we have all had in our late beloved King George V.

If a few more people would learn to stand on their own feet without being bolstered up by compulsory governmental schemes such as health insurance, etc., we would probably have more character and self-reliance and less disease, mental and bodily.—S. C. BEESON.

"Aros," Cobble Hill, B.C., February 9, 1936.

BANKS AND CREDIT

Sir,—In answer to Mr. Percival, Canadian banks do not receive foreign capital. Canadians who receive foreign drafts, bills of exchange and the proceeds of the sale of Canadian securities abroad simply receive pieces of paper representing claim to foreign capital or physical wealth. Until the actual physical goods called for by such claims are actually imported into Canada, no capital whatever comes into this country.

Canadians who receive such paper can take it to banks. Banks, if they like the look of it, can and do create new Canadian money and lend it to the holders of the paper, taking the paper over as security; that is, the banks take over the claims to goods in foreign countries, which claims are liquidated when the wealth they represent reaches Canada. The process is nothing more or less than the standard one by which banks create money against what they conceive to be the money value of physical wealth. This is the process by which, in one form or another, all the money in Canada came into existence and by which all our money is now owed to the banking system. When money is created by a bank and loaned to Smith as a debt, Smith pays the money to Jones for work of some sort, and Jones pays some of that money into his savings account, that does not change one whit the fact that the money Jones deposited as savings was originally created by the bank.

A perfect illustration of how our money was created by our banks and is still owed to them, is given in an ordinary consolidated statement of Canadian chartered banks. The consolidated statement of March 30, 1935, shows the total of all deposits of all kinds in Canadian banks within Canada on that date as being $2,006,338,707. The same statement shows the total of all loans and advances and all securities held by Canadian banks within Canada as being $2,107,524,166. Now, because every repayment of a loan to a bank or every sale of a security by a bank destroys a deposit and wipes out of existence money to the same amount, it follows that the repayment of all the loans to Canadian banks and the selling of all their securities would wipe out all Canadian bank deposits. This is plainly impossible. It is seen clearly that while a citizen or citizens can get out of debt to the banks, the people as a whole cannot, and every attempt to do so merely destroys money, deflates the economic structure and plunges the nation into ruin.

I commend to Colonist readers, as an authoritative statement on how banks create money, the article on the subject, "Business," in the magazine "Time" of this week. "Time," a plutocratic publication of great outspokenness, cannot be accused of being either in the pay of the Social Credit movement or of not knowing its subject.

STANDING STILL

Sir,—Your editorial in this morning's Colonist affords illuminating evidence of the serious condition of things in this city, and makes one wonder if you have been well advised in the past to advocate the large expenditures made for publicity purposes by the City Council against the manifest wishes of the people. Many of us who located here, with the scanty savings of a lifetime, have been deprived of our homes, witnessed our hard-earned savings disappear, and matters, my dear sir, in our case have—far from "standing still"—gone from bad to worse.

I am not quite sure for what length of time $25,000 a year was voted to the Publicity Bureau, but if "between 1921 and 1931 the population of Victoria has remained practically stationary," as your editorial this morning states; and if "during the past five years only 223 houses have been erected in the city," one is given furiously to think if perchance that money for publicity has not been thrown away.

From time to time we are assured in the press that we have received high value for such expenditures, well, we have eloquent witnesses to this fact in hundreds of dispossessed home-owners; old-established restaurants being sold up owing to vanishing business; scores of people who were once in comfortable circumstances, whose distress is becoming more acute from week to week; the number of reverted lots piling up on the city from day to day, and even you, Mr. Editor, admitting in a most pregnant phrase that "there is something wrong."

In spite of all these evidences as to our drifting towards Niagara; in the face of our stark, empty, white elephant of an elevator foisted upon us by "an enterprising council" in the past; our abandoned Worsted Mill; our cold storage fiasco, etc., we are contihually digging ourselves deeper in the hole. Over $50,000 has been expended on Macdonald Park, "the finest playing-ground in Western Canada." The fire brigade, the library board, the civic staff generally, are being encouraged to look for higher remuneration, and everywhere throughout our community the scriptural saying is being fulfilled: "To him that hath shall be given, and from him that hath not shall be taken away, even that which he hath."

I dare say, Mr. Editor, you will accuse me of pessimism, when I fail to be enthused by your suggestion that we need "an active programme for the disposal of reverted lands." I am confident, sir, that if a public announcement was made tomorrow that these lands might be had for the asking, not a dozen of them would be taken up under present conditions. Would you be burdened with one yourself as a gift?

DAVID GRIEVE TUCKWELL.

A CORRECTION

Sir,—In my letter, published in your paper, on this subject a few days ago, the word I used was "contest" not "concert" as published.

URSUS KERMODEI

Sir,—Why all this expostulation about the little white bear at the park? She really is the happiest and most contented bear in existence, and does she love to show off and rub her tummy! I know, because I have seen her hundreds of times and taken her tidbits, and she has hundreds of friends like myself who enjoy her antics and give her different things she likes.

If Ursus was let loose, I'll guarantee that in a few days she would be pushing the bars off her cage trying to get in, and would die of a broken heart if she couldn't receive the adulation of all her numerous friends passing by (and many from New York and other states).

It reminds me of an incident a few years ago. On the outskirts of Nanaimo there was a small hotel called the "Somerset" where they had two tame bears, but owing to the high cost of feeding they thought it advisable to get rid of them. So they hired a man with an auto, stowed the two bears in it and then turned them loose, but in no time they were back again. This occurred several times, but each time they always came back. In the end they became such a nuisance they had to be destroyed.

I sincerely hope that Miss Ursus Kermodei will not suffer the same fate.

And may I suggest for the benefit of the many thousands of the "knock Victoria group" that if New York could secure Ursus as a national attraction they would gladly pay her weight in gold.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock, add 18.8 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Bonsbey drydock, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

It's a doubting world; you even have to produce a certificate to prove that you were born.

Hon. J. J. Hughes Tells Senate Liquor Smuggling Rife on East And West Coasts

OTTAWA, Feb. 13 (C.P.).—An appeal for special efforts to suppress the smuggling of liquor into Canada was voiced in the Senate today by Hon. J. J. Hughes, of Prince Edward Island.

Continuance of smuggling operations had a baneful effect not only on the manhood of the country but on the national revenue, Senator Hughes told the Upper House.

Smuggling was rife on both the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. It was a demoralizing traffic and its suppression was made more difficult by wholesale perjury of its participants. While a large army of police was engaged in combatting it, they were not strong enough to cope with it.

He suggested that a Senate committee be appointed to get all information on the matter. This should be done now so that during the forthcoming Senate recess officers of the Government could be summoned to give the cost of the preventive service and an estimate of the loss to the Government in revenue due to smuggling.

APPEAL IS MADE FOR MORE FUEL

City's Relief Clothing Department Still Unable to Meet Need During Cold Spell

E. G. Snowden, city relief officer, yesterday made another appeal on behalf of the clothing department, which has used up all the supplies of fuel that were so generously donated, when the cold spell descended suddenly upon Victoria last week-end.

Unfortunately many persons are still suffering from lack of fuel, and there are more than 870 families on relief.

"We feel certain," Mr. Snowden said, "that it is only necessary to make an appeal to the public for donations to help us keep these people warm during this cold spell."

Anyone wishing to help in this way is asked to telephone Garden 8104 or call at the clothing department, 1322 Broad Street.

HOBBY FAIR OPENS TODAY AT Y.M.C.A.

Fourth Annual Event Promises to Be Most Outstanding of Series

DISPLAY INCLUDES UNUSUAL ARTICLES

Everything from stuffed alligators and birds' nests to models of ships, trains and airplanes will be displayed at the fourth annual Y.M.C.A. Hobby Fair, which opens at 7 o'clock this evening for a two-day run.

Classes at the fair include art, natural history and collections, model airplanes and yachts, national exhibits, eight different handicrafts, three industrial crafts, photography, cooking, sewing and an essay competition.

Judging is divided into three groups: under twelve years, under sixteen years, under twenty-one years and open.

MANY ENTRIES

So many entries have been received for the various classes that it has been found necessary to use the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium, the partitioned section of the lobby, the boys' recreation room and the main dining-room.

F. V. Shoemaker, boys' work secretary at the Y.M.C.A., is manager of the Hobby Fair. The committee responsible for its organization is composed of S. J. D. Clack, chairman; Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin, W. T. Straith, H. L. Smith, Warren W. Martin, John V. Johnson, H. L. Campbell, A. Willis, E. Bishop, R. McKenzie, G. R. Hearn, F. Kermode, A. Checkley and L. J. Clarke.

George M. Warren will show moving pictures of scenic Vancouver Island, stalking big game, and mountain climbing at 7:20 o'clock this evening. Harvey Lowe, who traveled around the world giving yo-yo exhibitions, will demonstrate his skill at 8 o'clock.

Music will be furnished by Ernest Fullerton and a company of hillbillies. Mr. Warren will show his pictures again at 9 o'clock, and Mr. Lowe will give a second performance at 9:45 o'clock.

As a special attraction, members of the Victoria Women's Institute will demonstrate weaving, spinning, glove making and the manufacture of sea grass furniture at 8:30 o'clock, in the lobby.

On Saturday the Hobby Fair will open at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon and close at 10:30 o'clock. The same programme will be followed with two additional performances by Mr. Lowe and an additional demonstration by the Women's Institute.

REPORT TO MOSCOW

MOSCOW, Feb. 14 (AP). — Soviet dispatches from Ulan Bator (Urga), Outer Mongolia, said today that ten Japanese-Manchukuan troops were killed in Wednesday's border clash with Outer Mongolian forces.

The Japanese and Manchukuan troops, the reports said, invaded Outer Mongolian territory, but were ejected after two fights near the Mongolian post of Bulun Dersu, the scene of several recent skirmishes.

The Mongolians admitted, it was stated, that one of their soldiers was killed and seven were wounded. They said twenty Japanese-Manchukuan troops were wounded.

TANKS AND TRUCKS

The invaders, the Ulan Bator dispatches reported, numbered more than 500 and were accompanied by one airplane, several tanks and six army trucks.

The Mongolian Government was said to have wired a demand to Manchukuo to put an immediate stop to the alleged incursions on Mongolian territory and to punish those responsible for the latest invasion.

READY FOR EMERGENCY

SHANGHAI, Feb. 13 (CP-Havas). —Japan has ordered a full military air squadron to hold itself in readiness for any emergency at Tsitsihar, in Northern Manchukuo, Japanese sources reported here today.

Orders were given to put all aviation units on the alert to deal with any situation which may arise as a sequel to yesterday's clash between Japanese and Outer Mongolian troops at Olahodka, near Lake Buir, the reports said.

Interment was made in Colwood Burial Park, with the following as pallbearers: N. B. Pollock, J. Murkar, O. Smith, A. Galbraith, T. Lumsden and H. Webster.

THREE IDENTIFY MAN IN COURT

Charles Russell Named as Gun-Shooting Bank Branch Robber

VANCOUVER, Feb. 13 (CP).—Three witnesses identified Charles Russell in police court today as the man who shot Thomas Winsby, manager of the Powell Street branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, during the holdup of the bank on January 15, when three bandits escaped with $1,045 after wounding Winsby and the teller, W. H. Hobbs, the latter fatally.

Preliminary hearing of Russell and Earl Dunbar, who are charged with murder in connection with Hobb's death, and two other men, William Davies and Fred Healy, charged as accessories to the crime, was adjourned until tomorrow after an all-day sitting.

CHARGES STRUCK OUT

Jack Hyslop and George Finlay Lawson, two other men sought by police after the holdup, shot themselves to death in an East End rooming house on January 22 after police surrounded their hideout. Charges against them were struck from the records today.

Winsby identified Russell as the man who shot him in the arm and chased him into the bank vault, where he was forced to lie on the floor.

Donald McRae, eighteen-year-old ledger keeper of the bank, also identified Russell as the man who shot Winsby, and Hugh C. Gibson, a customer in the bank at the time, also pointed to Russell as the man who shot at the manager.

MODIFIES STATEMENT

Robert d'Arcy Smith, twelve-year-old newsboy, who was in the bank at the time of the holdup, and who picked out Charles Russell at the inquest as the actual killer of William H. Hobbs, repudiated his previous testimony today when questioned by Thomas Hurley, defence counsel.

Young Smith said he had meant that Russell just "looked like" the gunman who fired the fatal shot when he picked out Russell at the inquest.

"And that is as far as you will go?" asked Hurley.

"Yes," replied the boy.

SHEEP CREEK GOLD OUTPUT FOR MONTH

VANCOUVER, Feb. 13 (CP).—Gross production of the Sheep Creek Gold Mines, Ltd., during January this year was valued at $47,711, R. W. Bruhn, president, announced today.

The mill handled 4,450 tons of ore during the month at an average rate of 143 tons per day, he said. Average recovery was $10.72 per ton.

Total operating costs, including shaft-sinking costs which were charged against capital, were $5.60 per ton of ore milled.

B.C. LIVESTOCK PRICES GAINED

Honey Crop in Province Reached 1,291,242 Lbs. During Year 1935

British Columbia livestock prices showed considerable improvement during 1935, despite fluctuations, Dr. W. R. Gunn, livestock commissioner, stresses in his annual report to the Department of Agriculture. Hogs led the advance, with beef cattle and sheep sharing in gains at varying levels throughout the year.

Choice steers moved up to $6.75 per hundredweight in July, compared with $4.87 in the corresponding month of 1934. Lamb prices in September were between $6.12 and $6.50, compared with $5.25 and $5.75 in the year previous. The average price for wool in 1935 was 13.5 cents, compared with 9.6 cents in 1934. Pork prices lifted sharply.

MORE ANIMALS

Herd increases included 1,275 horses, 7,400 milch cows, 10,900 other cattle, 2,300 sheep and 1,200 swine. Swine raising became more popular, specially in connection with mixed farming.

Fifty-five junior livestock clubs were in operation in this province last year, with a membership of 525 boys and girls.

A. W. Finlay, Provincial apiarist, reporting on the honey crop last year, placed this at 1,291,242 pounds, representing fifty-seven pounds per colony for 22,747 colonies of bees registered within the province. Late rains retarded honey production in what otherwise might have been a record year. Vancouver Island apiaries returned yields of forty-five pounds per colony.

SKATING AGAIN COMES TO FORE

Drop in Temperature Here and Forecast for Today Give Promise Of Winter Sport

With temperatures dropping again, skating again came to the fore last night at various swamps and shallows.

Yesterday, the mercury dropped to a minimum of sixteen degrees, but with sunrise the temperature began to rise, reaching a maximum of twenty-eight. However, after sunset the temperature began to drop again.

The barometer is still high over Central British Columbia, and cold weather is general over this province. Intense cold continues in the Prairies, with light snowfalls in Manitoba.

The forecast for Victoria for the next twenty-four hours is moderate to fresh north and east winds, fair and cold.

RUGBY GAMES OFF

With local playing fields frozen and dangerous for play, Intermediate Rugby League matches and Sunday School Football League fixtures scheduled for tomorrow have been postponed. Officials of the Victoria and District Football League will wait until today before making any announcement as to the cancellation of their games.

Retrieve Stolen Goods—With the retrieving yesterday of twenty-nine fountain pens, a number of postage stamps and a paper knife, city police completed investigations in connection with a robbery of the Victoria Box and Paper Company, 1202 Wharf Street, on January 2.

Appointments Made — Provincial orders yesterday listed appointment of Francis McKinnon, Cloverdale, Richard S. Collin, Hedley, and Frederick J. Fish, Vancouver, as justices of the peace. Arthur H. Claxton was appointed junior clerk in the Government agency at Kamloops.

Library Votes—Three municipalities in the Okanagan reported union library plebiscites to the Provincial Secretary yesterday. Penticton rejected the scheme by a vote of 259 to 630. Vernon polled 347 ballots for and 249 against, and Armstrong, 70 for and 23 against union library service.

Youth Missing—Missing from his home since Tuesday, William Hodges, sixteen years, 1223 Dominion Road, is the object of search by city police. When last seen, he was wearing a brown hat, blu suit coat, fawn-colored trousers, brown sweater and brown shoes. He is six feet one inch tall, weighs 150 pounds, has dark hair and grey eyes.

Chanke in Board—At yesterday's meeting of the Oak Bay Council, the resignation of C. E. Wilson as a member of the zoning appeal board, was accepted with regret, and T. J. Goodiake, former councillor, was selected to fill the vacancy. Mr. Wilson resigned owing to the fact that he found it inconvenient to attend all the meetings.

Relief Work—The superintendent of work in Oak Bay, T. Watt, submitted to the council yesterday details of work which he proposed to carry out as relief work for the immediate present. This included work on surface drains where building made it necessary and also on some clearing of brush on Linklea Avenue.

Approves Plan — Approval was given yesterday by the Oak Bay Council to the plan for the subdivision of property consisting of Lot 10, Block C, Map 74C, in the vicinity of Beach Drive and Monterey Avenue. There are four lots proposed to be platted on the property. The plan was approved of by the acting engineer before coming to the council.

Meet Longshoremen—Representatives of longshoremen's employing agencies and also representatives of longshoremen's organizations conferred with members of the business and trades development committee of the City Council Wednesday afternoon in an atempt to settle the present disagreement among longshoremen on Victoria's waterfront. No settlement has yet been reached.

Annual Meeting — Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education, will speak on "Child Welfare" before the annual public meeting of the Children's Aid Society to be held at 12:15 p.m. today in Spencer's dining-room. Mayor David Leeming will be among those present. The society at present has a financial campaign under way, with its goal set at $5,000.

Collides With Standard—Colliding with a lamp standard on Fort Street, near Linden Avenue, early yesterday, an automobile driven by A. H. Colquhoun, 2130 Oak Bay Avenue, was badly damaged, and the driver narrowly escaped serious injury when the standard fell on the car after being snapped off at its base, according to a police report.

Authorize Lot Purchase — The school board of Oak Bay will be informed by the Municipal Council that it approves of the plan of purchasing the lot in the Wigley estate for $200, which has been made possible by negotiations carried on by the board. This will complete the extension of the grounds of the Monterey School. The necessary by-law will be introduced at the next meeting of the council.

Museum Lectures—F. D. Mulholland, of the Provincial Forestry Service, will speak twice on the Carnegie series of natural history talks at the Provincial Museum on Saturday morning, Francis Kermode announced yesterday. Mr. Mulholland will speak at 9:15 and 10:30 to children's groups from city and district schools on "Our Forests." The lecture will be illustrated and followed by motion pictures.

Beautification of City's Waterfront Creating Anxiety

Local Council of Women, at Annual Meeting, Adopt Resolution Aimed at Preservation Of Victoria's Natural Beauty

INSPIRED by the able report on "National Recreation" read earlier in the day, and which report gave a comprehensive survey of various schemes being advanced for the "development" of the Island's beauty, the Local Council of Women at its final session yesterday afternoon adopted the following resolution by unanimous vote:

"Resolved, that a small delegation be appointed by this annual meeting of the Local Council of Women to wait on the Mayor with reference to the proposed beautification of Victoria's waterfront.

"The opinion is general that if the natural wildness of Beacon Hill Park, the cliff, and the coast be lost, half the attraction of the city will be sacrificed. It is the view of the Local Council of Women that before any development on artificial lines be commenced, public opinion be sought and proposed plans be clearly defined, as it is a project of the greatest importance, and one that should have general approval."

Moved by Mrs. W. J. H. Holmes, honorary vice-president, the resolution was seconded by Mrs. H. P. Hodges, who maintained that whereas many of the proposed changes were being advanced with the idea that they would attract tourists, ninety per cent of the tourists were attracted here because of Victoria's natural charm.

DEVELOPMENT MEANS MONEY

In her splendid report as convener of the committee on national recreation, Mrs. Hugh Mackenzie called attention to the money that would be required for some of the proposed development plans.

"There are so many projects being urged at the present time and sponsored by such various bodies as the Victoria and Saanich parks and beaches committee, the city parks committee, the Tourist Trade Department, the Victoria Horticultural Society, and many of the service clubs, together with neighboring municipalities. These projects all call for much spending and yet are of such importance to the whole of Greater Victoria that they seem to demand very careful examination with more co-ordination of effort under trained, expert advice, and with due consideration to costs involved and our ability to pay," she commented.

WILD FLOWERS

Mrs. Mackenzie stressed the need of continued campaigning for the preservation of the native wild flowers, in which connection she spoke with deep appreciation of the interest shown by George H. Deane, municipal inspector, in his efforts to educate the school children by showing colored slides in the schools with accompanying talks by himself. The city parks committee had put up notices forbidding the picking of wild flowers, but there seemed to be no legislation to meet the problem of the sale of wild flowers.

Before any further major development in parks was planned, it was contended that the parks at Mount Tolmie and Thetis Lake should be finished. Correspondence that had passed between the Local Council and City Council urged the appointment of an advisory board to work with the city parks committee. The recent decision to "beautify" the waterfront had caused some uneasiness. Would not "perservation" be better.

PUBLIC BEACHES

Criticism was made of the state of some of the public beaches, which were a reproach to the city. Deep regret was expressed at the sale of the magnificent stand of timber at Sahtlam, bought by the late Mr. Barnjum with the confident belief that he was preserving it for the people for all time. The timber had been lost owing to some fault in registration.

The question of the Dominion park on the West Coast had again come up for discussion and in this connection Mrs. Mackenzie included a special clause of thanks to the Hon. Wells Gray for his sympathetic consideration of representations made for the preservation of the stand of timber known at Cathedral Grove, an asset of "such great scenic value both to residents and visitors."

Many phases of health problems were reviewed in the report of the standing committee on public health, read in the absence of the convener, by Mrs. A. C. Ross. This stressed the benefits of preventive work and organization of clinics.

TUBERCULOSIS CONTROL

Dr. F. Kincaid told the council about the work that is being done in British Columbia to combat tuberculosis. Since last September, 600 patients had been examined, over fifty per cent being found to be "positive" cases. Of the 300 cases on Vancouver Island, only twenty-five per cent needed constant care. The total number of deaths on the Island were forty-seven.

The average number of cases seen daily was fifteen. While the pooling of accommodation for tuberculosis patients in the province, the problem of finding beds was much simplified. There were 334 at Tranquille, 166 in Vancouver; forty at Victoria. Even so there were six patients on the waiting list in Victoria alone.

Examination in all clinics was free, and treatment, except on the part of those who were able to pay, was also free.

Much preventive work could still be done, particularly in the case of children. Dr. Kincaid stressed the need of dealing with cases in the early stages of the disease. He also acknowledged the great help and co-operation being given by doctors and nurses, the Victorian Order of Nurses being particularly helpful.

In the question time that followed his talk, Dr. Kincaid gave much further information, particularly interesting being his explanation of prolapsis of the lung, which corresponded to the rest treatment given for tuberculosis in other parts of the body.

OTHER BUSINESS

Although not on the agenda, Mrs. C. C. Spofford, the president, in response to special requests, gave a concise resume of local council activities during the past year, noting that practically every subject bearing on the welfare of women and children had come under review in the course of the year. Only political and sectarian matters were debarred from discussion.

A last-moment emergency resolution, sponsored by the Children's Aid Society, was adopted by the meeting, which appointed the president, Mrs. Spofford, to name a committee to go into the matter further. The resolution, which followed a preamble, pointing to increasing social problems among unemployed girls from seventeen to twenty-two years of age, was as follows: "Be it resolved that this committee bring to the attention of the Victoria Local Council of Women the necessity for a more adequate shelter allowance for unemployed girls on relief."

Wife Preservers

If you are going to lay a new wood floor over an old one, place heavy building felt between the two floors. It will help assure dryness and tend to make the room more soundproof.

If one tumbler has become stuck in another when they were piled up, pour cold water into the upper one, which will contract it. Then let the lower one soak in warm water, and they will come apart.

If you will stir one teaspoon of confectioner's sugar into the bottle of cream, it will keep longer. Stir sugar in well.

Spoon your soup from the soup plate with a circular motion toward the back of the plate, and sip from the side of the spoon, not from the tip.

Heated and floured scissors will cut dried fruits for the fruit cake without sticking.

Clubs-Societies

Breakfast Club

The Victoria Credit Women's Breakfast Club held the monthly breakfast and meeting in the private dinning-room of the Douglas Hotel Wednesday morning, with a good attendance of members. The guest speaker was Mrs. Horricks, manager of the hosiery and glove departments, Hudson's Bay Company. She chose for her subject, "Romance Behind the Counter," giving an amusing and interesting talk on a girl's progress from apprentice to buyer. The club's bridge party will be held on the evening of February 26 at the Y.W.C.A. Tickets can be had from Miss Kathaleen Knapton, telephone E 9954. All members are requested to attend and bring their friends. Auction and contract will be played. The next meeting will be held on Wednesday morning, March 11. A short business meeting was held when plans were discussed for the Northwest Credit Granters' Convention to be held in Victoria in May.

Cowichan W.A.

Twenty members attended the meeting of the W.A. to Cowichan Branch, Canadian Legion, which was held at the W.A. rooms. Mrs. G. V. Jarvis, the president, occupied the chair. Mrs. J. H. G. Palmer, reporting for the relief committee, said there had been no calls for relief during the past month, and that practically all calls during the past year had come from transients, indicating a decided improvement in local conditions. Mrs. George Kennett, for the sick visiting committee, reported visits to a number of members in hospital, and to several members ill at home. Mr. Hugh Savage, M.P.P., was guest speaker, and gave an interesting talk on personal glimpses of the late King George during the Empire Press Conference, and with Queen Mary and also related some interesting incidents in the life of the Prince of Wales, now King Edward VIII. Mr. Savage was warmly thanked for his address.

Valentine Tea

With Valentine decorations predominating, an enjoyable Valentine tea was held on Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Victoria Chapter No. 25, Women of the Moose, at the home of Mrs. E. Jane, 246 Howe Street, of which she, Mrs. K. Herring and Mrs. S. Wetherall proved delightful hostesses. The evening was spent in games and singing. Mrs. R. Panting won the guessing contest and Mrs. C. Drysdale and Miss D. Guelpa the treasure hunt. Refreshments were served by the hostesses and the buffet table was centred with a beautiful decorated Valentine cake. It was announced that a sewing bee will be held at the home of Mrs. H. Parker, 3075 Washington Avenue, on Thursday evening, February 20, when Mrs. M. Pearce will be hostess.

Women Conservatives

The Women's Conservative Association held a business meeting last evening in the rooms, Campbell Building, Mrs. A. C. Sinclair in the chair. The members stood in silent tribute to the memory of His Late Majesty King George. Two new members were proposed. Mrs. R. D. Harvey gave a report of the tea held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. A. McKenzie, the afternoon having been a great success. Mrs. A. Viller gave a report of the Local Council of Women's meeting. A donation to the St. John Ambulance Society was voted. Plans were made for a whist party on Thursday, February 27, at the rooms.

Women's Institutes

ESQUIMALT

Mrs. W. H. Booth, past president, who is leaving Victoria to make her home at Port Alberni, was presented with a handsome traveling clock and a corsage bouquet in the institute colors of blue, white and green, at a recent meeting held by the Esquimalt Women's Institute in the Parish Hall. Mrs. Sadler made the presentation. The gathering will make a donation of linen to the annual linen shower for the Solarium being held today and Saturday. Mrs. Parks will represent the institute at the Children's Aid meeting today. Plans were made for a card party on February 20, and announcement was made of a prize to be given for the highest aggregate score for the next three months. Mrs. J. Bradley, Mrs. S. Raymond and Mrs. R. Garrett were hostesses for the evening.

COWICHAN

The Cowichan Women's Institute held a meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. George Colk, Duncan. There was a good attendance, and two new members were welcomed. The meeting opened with a standing tribute to His Late Majesty King George. Replying to a letter from the adult education committee of the University of British Columbia asking for suggestions for the practical administration of the scheme, the institute decided to propose supervised study groups or night schools for pupils leaving school.

A donation was voted to the newly formed boys' band in the district.

The ways and means committee reported that a silver tea was being arranged to be held at the home of Mrs. F. B. Carbery, on St. Patrick's Day. A proposal for a Cowichan economy cook book was well received and members are asked to bring recipes to the next meeting. Other institutes are to be asked to co-operate.

Arrangements were made for the Easter hamper which it is hoped will provide funds for linens for the Solarium.

Flowers were sent to two sick members.

Mrs. C. C. Spofford, of Victoria, will be asked to address the next meeting of the institute.

Tea was served after the meeting by the hostess, Mrs. Colk.

TENNIS CLUB DANCE

The Boundary Tennis Club will hold a Valentine dance this evening from 9 to 1 o'clock at Hampton Hall. Prizes will be given and refreshments served.

Wabasso Cottons Shown In Many New Fashions

Mrs. M. Ballingall Tells Women How to Utilize Fine Canadian Product—Style Display at A.O.F. Hall Is Attractive

The A.O.F. Hall was filled to capacity with an interested audience yesterday when Mrs. M. Ballingall, of the Wabasso Cotton Company, of Three Rivers, Quebec, gave a talk on the Summer modes which will have cotton as their feature material. Having seen the possibilities of plain and printed cottons for dress wear and for household use, it was easy to imagine why Mrs. Ballingall said that "we are living in a cotton season and we are all becoming cotton-minded."

She gave a few facts about the Wabasso mill, which employs 2,800 workers and is one of the largest cotton centres in the world. The name, Wabasso, which is taken from an Indian word meaning "white rabbit," typifying purity, is stamped on all Wabasso products, and the company guarantees its durability and fast dyes.

It had been said that Victoria did not favor cotton materials to any great extent, but Mrs. Ballingall pointed out that since the arrival of the new cotton goods at David Spencer, Ltd., thousands of yards had been sold, and the Wabasso Company looks upon this city as one of its best cotton purchasers.

SPONSORED BY INSTITUTE

The talk, which was under the auspices of the Victoria Women's Institute, was made particularly interesting by the appearance of a number of mannequins who wore negligees, Summer frocks, coats, evening dresses, beach togs, and pyjamas, all made from the season's new cottons. So soft and supple were many of the broadcloths and the smart printed voiles that they closely resembled more expensive silks, and they had the extra advantage of being washable.

The mannequins were Gwen Stokes, Doreen Kinsman, Muriel Huzzey, Julia Kent Jones, Winnie Welsh, Jean Harness, Frances Winter, Irene Brown and Walter Acreman.

For morning wear there were crisp little print smocks for children, the girls' dresses having, in many instances, the addition of white pique collars which gave an extra touch of smartness. Party dresses of "Butterfly" print, made in Victorian style with shirred waistline and long skirt, were charming, and little boys' button-on suits of broadcloth were made with drilled white collars.

Cottons come into their own for fancy dresses, and a Russian costume was striking, made of red and white broadcloth and print. A Dutch outfit combined a checked pique and pale green voile with a starched cap and apron, an inexpensive and thoroughly delightful costume for any party.

EVENING FROCKS

A group of Summer evening dresses included a green print with cable cord trimming at the neck and hemline, which was the distinctive feature of this fascinating frock. Belts will be wider this year, and were shown made of stiffened or folded cottons. A plain, palest pink pique party frock was worn with a neat little tailored jacket. It was a feature of the jackets that many of those made of plain materials were lined with prints and were reversible, thus a frock could do double duty.

An evening dress of floral print was made for a four-inch train and with it was worn a pique coat which showed the high-necked Chinese influence. Mrs. Ballingall explained that many of the Butterick patterns which called for silks and satins in making evening gowns, could be adapted for use in cotton materials with equally good effect. One of the most appealing evening frocks was of fine cotton voile, in two shades of blue, made with a flounced skirt and toopped by a plain pique print-lined coat.

WEDDING SCENE

An "all-cotton" bridal group created much interest and was applauded by the audience. The "bride," modeled by Miss Muriel Huzzey, wore a gown of white voile made on long flowing lines, classically simple in design. The wedding veil was of white sheer net, softly draped from a bandeau of satin. The bridesmaids, Miss Winnie Welch and Miss Julia Kent Jones, looked lovely in pastel voiles, pink and blue, made with deep flounces, and they wore bandeaux in their hair. Bracelets of colored gardenias worn on the wrist struck a new note. Little Jean Harness, the "flower girl," wore a charming white voile frock. One of the wedding "guests," Miss Doreen Kinsman, was in a long printed frock, and two little "guests," Walter Acreman and Frances Winter, had attractive party outfits. Mrs. Llewelyn Jones played the "Wedding March."

Mrs. Ballingall showed, in addition to the dress styles, how sunrooms, bedrooms and the house in general could be freshened up with new curtains, cushions or bedspreads, and luncheon sets, all made from cotton. In many cases, plain materials were combined with prints and the result was altogether pleasing. The audience was advised to allow plenty of length for outer curtains, in order to avoid any sense of "skimpiness" when making up draperies. She also spoke of the advisability of using plenty of material for sheets.

Dyed sheeting is to be popular this year for sports wear, its firmness and lasting quality being particularly well adapted to sports outfits.

The speaker of the afternoon was introduced by Mrs. Gus Brown, and at the conclusion of the address was given an enthusiastic vote of thanks. The talk was attended by a large number of school girls of the domestic science classes, for whom dressmaking and general ideas on home-making hold great appeal.

CENTENNIAL

The Centennial Young People's Society held an enjoyable Valentine social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. Jefferys, Blanshard Street, on Tuesday evening. The recreational committee, under the leadership of Dorothy Harris and Bill Deaville, led the group in novelty Valentine games. The evening closed with the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" and "Auld Lang Syne." The society will have charge of the song service for Sunday evening, February 23, at the Y.M.C.A.

TILLICUM CLUB

The weekly meeting of St. Aidan's Tillicum Club on Tuesday took the form of a Valentine social. Members of the Oak Bay Obypa Club were the guests of Wilkinson Road Y.P.S. and St. Aidan's Tillicum Club in St. Aidan's Hall. The evening was spent in playing a number of games, after which everyone was welcomed in the assembly hall, which was beautifully decorated in suitable colors for the occasion. Supper was served at prettily-arranged tables. The meeting closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

CATHOLIC

A successful Valentine dance was held on Wednesday evening in the K. of C. Hall by members of the Catholic Young People's Club. The guests, numbering over 170, were entertained by a three-piece orchestra, which provided the latest dance music. The hall was decorated with red and white streamers. Refreshments were served. The dance committee was in charge of John Chrissian (chairman), Gertie Campbell, John Grant and Al Dunnett. Mona Kelpin and Don Kissinger supervised the decorations.

CITY TEMPLE

The regular meeting of the Victoria City Temple Young People's Society took place on Tuesday, twenty-three members and five guests being present. The meeting was called to order by the president, Miss Ruth Hanson, for a brief business discussion. After this, the evening's programme took the form of a Valentine party, supervised by Miss Irene McDonald, who conducted several very entertaining games and contests, assisted by her committee. The social hall was attractively decorated for the occasion. Winners for the radio guessing contest were Miss Marjorie Shepherd and Herb Gillis; Valentine word contest, Miss Nora Williams; making fancy Valentines from materials supplied, Miss Pearl Findlay and Mr. Frank Cox. While the ladies adjourned to arrange for a forthcoming leap year dance, the men selected their partners for supper by choosing fancy lunch boxes prepared by the ladies. The next meeting will be in charge of Miss May McColl, citizenship convener. All members are urged to be present.

Anglican Young People

ST. MARY' S

St. Mary's branch of the A.Y.P.A. held a Valentine party in the parish hall on Wednesday evening. Games and dancing were much enjoyed and refreshments served. Next Wednesday the meeting will be in the form of a lecture given by Mr. E. C. Nicholas, of The Victoria Daily Times, speaking on "Current Events," commencing at 8:15 p.m. It will be an open meeting for those interested, and it is hoped there will be a good attendance of members.

ST. JOHN'S

Members of the St. John's branch of the A.Y.P.A. held an enjoyable social on Monday. A humorous play was presented and games were played. At the close of the evening, refreshments were served. Notice was given that the branch would hold a dance on Monday, February 24, at the Douglas Hotel. A.Y.P.A. members and friends are cordially invited. The next meeting will be a sports night. Members will meet in front of the Crystal Garden at 7:55 o'clock.

WILL REPRODUCE TROPICAL VILLAGE

Marshy Land in Liverpool to Be Used for Study of Disease

LIVERPOOL (BUP).—In order that students of the Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine can gain a practical knowledge of tropical housing and drainage and their effects on tropical disease, a plot of marshy land in Liverpool is to be acquired and a replica of a native village on a small scale will be built on it.

"We hope, by means of the village, to spread knowledge of disease prevention over a wider field," Professor D. B. Blacklock, who has just returned from a tour of the Far East, said in explaining the scheme.

"We intend to build houses of the type used in Eastern countries, and examples will be provided of the way in which disease spreads through bad housing, sanitation and water supplies.

"When the site has been acquired students will survey and drain it, and ideal dwellings will be built as well as badly-made and disease-breeding houses, so that comparative data can be obtained."

Conditions In Canada Normal States Visitor

"Business conditions in Canada are normal again."

That was the report made yesterday by H. Glass, Winnipeg, Western manager of the Canadian Bag Company, during an interview at the Empress Hotel, where he is registered with Mrs. Glass.

"The trouble with most people is that they think things are normal only when we are running at a peak load," Mr. Glass contended. He said that many persons looked back on the 1929 era as "normal times," forgetting it was a boom time.

Mr. and Mrs. Glass are on their way to California for an extended holiday.

Meter Keeps Tab On Typists' Taps

SHEFFIELD (BUP).—The United Steel Companies offices here have introduced a novel scheme to increase output and relieve the monotony of the typists' work. On each typist's machine a "tapometer" has been fitted, which records the number of taps made by each typist each day. If the number of taps reaches a certain standard by the end of the week the girl receives a bonus of $1.25, and if she is more efficient still the bonus increases on a graduated scale.

The comptroller of the companies states that the scheme has increased the output of typists by 70 per cent.

Verse Form Described In Address

"The chief glory of Britain is her poets. Britain stands on a par with any other country in the realm of poetic art," Harry L. Smith, principal of the Victoria High School, declared at the close of his address on "Forms of Verse," given before the reading group of the Y.W.C.A. yesterday afternoon. Mrs. E. Tomlin presided.

Mr. Smith opened his remarks by explaining that Byron's early experience in reading poetry was probably the experience of many. "It is a curse to understand it, but not love it. Appreciation of poetry is what we should develop," he said.

The speaker explained that in his position as a teacher he had studied and taught the poem, "Ulysses," for twenty years, but still found it ever new and interesting.

DEFINITION OF POETRY

Mr. Smith then proceeded to give a definition of poetry, quoting freely from the poets, who themselves in poetic form had given the definition in varying ways.

Rhythm was next touched upon, and the speaker pointed out the varying methods of accenting, and also described rhyming and poetry without rhythm.

Mr. Smith followed this by a discourse on the pattern of poetry, pointing out that it was divided into three classes, epic, dramatic and lyric. After explaining these divisions, he proceeded to subdivide them, concluding with the pure lyric, which he described as powerful emotion beautifully expressed.

PLANS SURVEY FOR RARE GAS

Professor Wants to Know What Happens to All World's Helium

LONDON (BUP).—A world-wide survey of the atmosphere's supply of the rare gas, helium, is planned by Professor F. A. Paneth, of the Imperial College of Science and Technology.

Helium is the light but non-inflammable gas which has been used in place of hydrogen to provide airships with "lift." It is produced by the slow breakdown of radio-active rocks within the earth's surface, and Professor Paneth wants to know what happens to all the helium so produced.

One theory is that there may be a higher proportion of helium high up in the atmosphere. There may also be an appreciable leakage of the earth's helium into outer space.

SENSITIVE ANALYZER

The object of the survey is to discover how much variation there is in the amount of helium in the air in different parts of the world. Professor Paneth has the most sensitive helium analyzer in the world, and the proposal is that samples of helium from different places should be sent to him for examination. The normal proportion is of the order of five parts in a million.

Prof. Paneth is also hoping to enlist the help of strathosphere flyers and balloonists. Sounding balloons have already been sent up on his behalf from Kew Observatory, with the co-operation of Sir George Simpson, Director of the Meteorological Office. One of them reached a height of about eighteen miles. The air brought down by this balloon showed an excess of 8 per cent of helium compared with London air, but Professor Paneth is not yet satisfied that this figure is characteristic. In any case, he wants to receive samples from still higher.

TRAPPER RESCUED NEAR STARVATION

Provincial Policeman and Companion Find Cascade Man Without Food in Kootenays

GRAND FORKS, B.C., Feb. 13 (C.P.).—Saved from almost certain starvation, Chester Winston "Chet" Mills, pioneer rancher and trapper, of Cascade, was brought out from his trap line on Cabin Creek, forty miles from here, today, by Provincial Police Constable D. R. McWhirter and Steve Surinach.

The two men made the seven-day trip into the Cabin Creek country in sub-zero weather, and found the sixty-two-year-old trapper without food. Surinach accompanied Mills to his trap line November last, and at the time Mills said he was coming out for New Year's Day.

MISS MARGARET HOWE IN FATAL ACCIDENT

NANAIMO, Feb. 13 (C.P.).—Word has been received here of the death in Sacramento, Calif., of Margaret Howe, seventeen-year-old daughter of Rev. H. L. Howe, former pastor of Nanaimo First Baptist Church.

Death was caused by injuries she suffered in an automobile accident.

Mrs. Casey—"How is your boy getting on?"

Mrs. Kelly—"Oh, he's very quick. The teacher says when he leaves school and goes on the dole he'll be at the head of the queue."

After sowing his wild oats many a man grows sage

INDOOR SCENES ARE COMPLETE

Visiting Motion Picture Officials and Actors Are Highly Pleased

Practically all the indoor scenes of the Central Films' third production, "Gun Smoke," were completed yesterday, and provided the weather is moderate today the cast will move to the recently-erected cow-town street. The picture is being produced for Columbia Pictures Corporation under the British quota regulations.

"Take it from me, Victoria is a mighty fine place to live in," said Harry Decker, associate producer for Columbia Pictures Corporation, yesterday at the Central Films studio, in commenting on the natural beauties and invigorating climate of Vancouver Island. Despite the unusual cold of the past few days, Mr. Decker and other motion picture workers from Hollywood are well pleased with their adopted city.

LOCAL PAPERS

Victoria newspapers also came in for considerable praise from Mr. Decker, who declared they carried more drama to the inch than papers in his part of the country. He stated all those here from the South found great pleasure in reading the two local newspapers, which, he explained, told their stories straightforwardly and gave readers the important details in the first paragraph.

The visitors are intrigued by the fish and chips restaurants and several of them have made steady diets of this food for several consecutive days. Not only at regular meal hours do they haunt fish and chips establishments, but delight in visiting them during the evening. To them fish and chips stores are a novelty.

PHOTOGRAPHER

Mrs. Decker, who arrived here recently in company with Mrs. Ford Beebe, wife of the director of the picture, "Gun Smoke," and Mrs. Ralph Black, wife of the business manager, is a well-known portrait photographer. She brought a large camera with her to photograph places on the Island and take them home. The three women are spending much of their time touring the Lower Island and are now planning to participate in a clam-digging expedition.

Captains and Officers of Tramp Steamers Answer Questions for London Scholars

LONDON (BUP).—The "adoption" by four London schools of tramp steamers, in connection with a new scheme for teaching geography, has proved so successful that steps are being taken to extend the system to 100 other schools in the city.

Arrangements will also be made with educational authorities in the provinces so that boys and girls in all parts of the country may take advantage of the scheme.

Schools in all parts of the country will be invited to join a society on a subscription basis," an educational official said. "The four London schools have carried on correspondence with the captain and officers of four cargo vessels, who have been asked and have answered all sorts of questions about their ports of call, cares and other matters.

"When an 'adopted' ship comes into the Port of London the boys and girls from the school concerned are allowed to visit her.

"The scheme is enlarging the youngsters' knowledge of economic and physical geography. If the scheme is extended hundreds of ships trading in all parts of the world will be 'adopted.'"

CALGARY, Feb. 13 (C.P.).—Cold weather slowed up egg production in Alberta but today a shortage of the breakfast commodity in Calgary was relieved. More than 4,000 dozen eggs arrived from British Columbia for the local market.

How to make wonderful Buckwheat Cakes

1. Mix milk or water with equal amounts of Aunt Jemima Buckwheat. In a twinkling batter is ready.
2. Have griddle or skillet just hot enough. (To test, put a drop of water on griddle. If it goes right up in a puff of steam, griddle is too hot. If it bounces around a second before evaporating, griddle is hot enough.
3. Grease griddle very lightly. Don't pour grease on. Spread it thinly with pad.
4. Pour batter into griddle. Let each side bake until brown.

THRILL the family today with light, fluffy buckwheat cakes, rich with the Old Plantation flavor only Aunt Jemima's secret recipe can yield.

You can make them as wonderfully tender as she did. For Aunt Jemima's special buckwheat mixture guarantees far more fluffiness than ordinary bread or biscuit flour. Because Aunt Jemima's contains only about half the amount of gluten of ordinary flour. And gluten is the taffy-like substance in flour that resists heat and slows up the baking process.

That's why, with about half the gluten of ordinary flour, Aunt Jemima's buckwheat cakes come out so perfectly done, so tender, fluffy and light in the few short minutes buckwheat cakes are on the fire.

Only 391 calories in a stack of three Aunt Jemima buckwheat cakes, a square of butter and one ounce of syrup. Yet standard diets permit a total of 2,000 to 4,000 calories in the three daily meals. Your grocer will deliver anything you need for this menu in one order.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

After a particularly hectic session of the recent national tournament conducted by the United Bridge Association, a group of experts gathered at a restaurant table, ostensibly for calorie replenishment, actually, I think, for an intensive post-mortem. The thirty-three hands just played were dissected to the accompaniment of wailing from some and gloating from others, and then the talk turned to general bridge matters. (Bridge experts, like actors, have a horizon limited sharply to their one activity.) Someone posed the question: "What particular fault is most costly to a weak player?" These were the answers of the six experts present:

1. Timidity in the first rounds of bidding, frantic "stretching" in the later rounds.
2. Ruinous opening leads.
3. The inability, when holding a weak hand, to visualize partner's hand, from his bidding, as almost strong enough to carry on alone.
4. Too much finessing.
5. Not knowing when to make penalty doubles.

But the sixth expert looked around superciliously and sneered: "I guess you fellows have completely overlooked rescue bids!"

And there was not a dissenting word!

A CASE IN POINT

North, dealer.

NORTH
♥ Q 10 7
♦ K 10 8 5 2
♣ A

WEST
♠ 8 7 5
♥ J 8 5 4 3 2
♦ A 7
♣ Q 5

EAST
♠ K J 9
♦ Q J 9
♣ J 10 9 8 4 3

SOUTH
♠ Q 4 2
♥ A K 6
♦ 8 4 3
♣ K 7 6 2

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1♦	2♠	Dbl.	2♥
Double (final bid)

It is true that East's two club overcall was questionable, but his six card suit although jack high, was fairly solid and he was not afraid of a large penalty. As a matter of fact, two clubs could not have been defeated more than one trick.

West was an habitual "rescuer," which South well knew when he made his close double of two clubs. North knew it, too, hence his penalty double of the hearts on a hand that really warranted a pass at this point.

The defence was excellent. North opened the ace of clubs and shifted to the ace and another spade. Dummy's king won and a second round of clubs was played, South winning the king. A diamond from South went to West's ace and the diamond was returned, North's king winning. A spade put South in the lead and he followed with a low club, North over-trumping the declarer. A diamond lead was trumped by the declarer, who had nothing but trumps left. He led a low heart to the nine; South won with the king. The fourth round of clubs gave North another over-ruff and South's ace of trumps accounted for the defender's ninth trick and 700-point reward.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Question—Please give the correct bid on the following hand over an opening four spade bid by the right hand opponent: ♠ —, ♥ A K 10 7, ♦ A Q 10 9 3, ♣ K Q 9.

Answer—The correct bid is four no trump, demanding that your partner bid his best suit.

TOMORROW'S HAND

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

WHY MORE MENTAL PATIENTS ARE NOW LIKELY TO BE CURED

Some months ago the statement was made that if the number of patients with mental ailments continued to increase at its present rate, one-half of the world's population would be confined to mental hospitals with the other half supporting them there. Now there is no question but that mental ailments are actually increasing, but not perhaps as rapidly as is thought because practically all cases are known now and receiving treatment.

Further, there are cases admitted to mental hospitals which formerly were being cared for at home. These cases are sent to hospital now because hospital treatment is considered best by the family, and of course many families are now unable to carry the financial burden of having the patient cared for at home.

Our mental specialists now believe, however, that the number of mental cases may be actually reduced in the coming years. One of the first methods of treatment to give results was what is called occupational therapy. This treatment consists in having the patient do some form of work during which time, of course, he doesn't think about himself, and by doing some actual or useful work loses some of his inferiority-complex and may thus be enabled to go back and take his place at work or business.

So successful has occupational therapy become in the treatment of mental ailments that Drs. C. C. Burlingame and Carl Phillip Wagner, Hartford, Conn., report that they have gone beyond the simple occupations in which the patients were allowed to engage, and have actually started a school or institution with the selected patients and have made the surroundings just as much like an ordinary school as possible. As you know, mental patients have as much brains as those of us outside the institution, but they are "inside" the institutions because they can't adjust themselves to or get along with other people.

The treatment consists in having all doctors, nurses, teachers, attendants treating the patients as if they were normal. There is a daily programme requiring regular hours of study in what the patient likes or may need—personal and correspondence instruction.

As this method enables the patient to mix more with normal people, he is gradually made ready to go back and mix entirely with those who are normal.

If a man stands on his dignity it is certain that he has not much dignity to stand on.

CHILD HEALTH IS IMPORTANT

Dr. Cyril Wace Addresses Members of Rotary Club On Preventive Work

Dr. Cyril Wace, medical director of Queen Alexandra Solarium, was the guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of Victoria Rotary Club at the Empress Hotel yesterday. He discussed the problem of crippled children in so far as it concerned early detection of child ailments and the necessity of treatment in the incipient stage.

He believed, he said, some means would be found for taking care of crippled children, and those requiring treatment, while the population of the province was still comparatively small, and thus permitting gradual expansion as the number of physically defective children increased.

IN URGENT NEED

Dr. Wace stated it was somewhat difficult to ascertain, by survey, the exact number of children in British Columbia requiring medical and surgical treatment. However, he estimated approximately 600 children were in urgent need of attention.

Quoting figures he had obtained from school medical reports, Dr. Wace declared that at the close of 1934 there were 75,480 children in the province recorded suffering from physical handicaps. Of that number, approximately 8,000 were reported suffering from malnutrition and 3,800 from enlarged tonsils.

Dr. Wace stressed the importance of treating child deficiencies at the very earliest time. Early treatment permitted a child's recuperative powers to assert themselves and thus check or ward off progression of the particular ailment and, by so doing, restore the child to normal health and fit to take its place in life.

WORK IN PROVINCE

Dr. Wace mentioned he had started a survey of the province last Summer and, after completing the southern part, had been forced to abandon further investigation because of adverse conditions in the Peace River area, after more than six weeks' work.

The doctor commended members of the Rotary Club for the work they were doing for underprivileged children, and extended an invitation to the members to visit the Queen Alexandra Solarium and see what was being done there to care for crippled children. In the Solarium, he said, there were children of many races and creeds, including some Doukhobor children, who had been placed in the institution following his visit to the Doukhobor settlement last Summer.

AGRICULTURISTS REVIEW YEAR

Islands Association Meets at Ganges—Will Not Show This Year

SALTSPRING ISLAND, Feb. 13—The annual meeting of the Islands Agricultural and Fruit Growers Association took place recently in the committee room of the Makon Hall, Ganges. The president, W. M. Palmer, was in the chair and there was a fair attendance of members.

The president gave a brief resume of the year's work and stated that the organization was in a better position than it had been for some time past. He paid a tribute of thanks to the president and members of the Women's Institute, for their substantial help throughout the year. He said that $200 of the mortgage on the hall had been paid off and the remaining sum owing transferred to another mortgagee, at a lower rate of interest.

After a certain amount of discussion, it was decided not to hold a show this year.

Mr. Palmer told the members that the lumber ordered for lining up the stage had now arrived, and a "bee" was arranged to proceed with the work two days after the meeting.

The idea of forming a calf club was considered, on this point all were in favor and the secretary, Frank Stevens, was instructed to find out all particulars relating to the carrying out of the scheme.

Colin Mouat suggested the holding of one Central Fair for the Gulf Islands; this same proposal had been put forward recently, at the sheep breeders' dinner and annual meeting, and it was hoped to carry out arrangements for such an exhibition for the year 1937.

At the nomination of officers the following five were elected: Mrs. T. F. Speed, W. M. Palmer, R. O. King, W. Crawford, A. Beddis. Auditors, D. S. Harris and W. J. Page.

Jean—"Fashions may come and go, but there's always a demand for cosmetics."

Funeral Scenes Showing in News At the Dominion

WINTRY scenes predominate in The Colonist Universal Newsreel now showing at the Dominion Theatre. The icy breath of a northeast blizzard holds Chicago stormbound and sweeps the country, costing many lives, causing serious damage and disrupting traffic. From Burlington, Vermont, come glimpses of army life under difficulties as the troops carry on in the teeth of a record cold snap. Niagara Falls show a magnificent panorama of ice-clad columns, and in Montreal Winter sports go forward with zest.

A special feature of this newsreel is found in the shots of the funeral procession of the late King George V and the proclamation ceremony when King Edward VIII was officially declared Sovereign.

FLOATING OIL MAY BE TRACE

Cutters Find Evidence of Missing Plane Near Where Last Reported

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 13 (AP)—The possibility that a trace of the air liner Ville de Buenos Aires, missing with six men aboard on a trans-Atlantic flight since Monday, has been found, was announced authoritatively today.

Oscar Regua, commercial manager for Air France, the international air line which operated the big seaplane, said:

"One of the cutters seeking the Ville de Buenos Aires reported by radio that it had found oil floating on the water, more or less where the plane was last reported about 600 miles northeast of Natal."

The search, by surface craft and airplane, was being continued.

EAGLE LODGES MAKE STRIDES

J. W. Bryan, Jr., State President, Addresses Members Of Victoria Aerie

Eagle lodges throughout Washington and British Columbia are making rapid forward strides, James W. Bryan, Jr., of Bremerton, Wash., state president, told a large meeting of the Victoria Aerie No. 12, Wednesday night. Mr. Bryan has jurisdiction over Washington State and British Columbia.

During the last few days the state president visited Cumberland, Ladysmith, Port Alberni and Nanaimo, and found great enthusiasm among all lodge members. Increases in membership were being enjoyed everywhere, Mr. Bryan stated.

The visiting official dealt with world problems, stating, in part, that there was no real reason for war for conquest, as history showed such colonies acquired in recent times were not used to alleviate the problem of overpopulation in the mother countries.

MOURN DEATH

Continuing, Mr. Bryan related how Eagles in every aerie in the State of Washington grieved with the Canadian Eagles in the death of the beloved King George V, and shared in the hopes for the welfare and happy reign of King Edward VIII.

Mr. Bryan, who is a former prosecutor attorney for Kitsap County, was accompanied to Victoria by his wife.

Following the business meeting, an entertainment programme was enjoyed and refreshments served. Those contributing to the entertainment programme were Miss Francis Borde, Miss Olive Edmonds, Mrs. N. Bortucci, Boyd MacGill, Stanley Cawsey, Arthur Goddard, John Gow, T. McIlvoy and Thomas Obee.

DEFINE CLASSES TO BE EXCLUDED

Osteopaths, Chiropractors, Nature And Faith Healers Not In Health Insurance Bill

Osteopaths, chiropractors, faith and nature healers will not be considered as practitioners under terms of the proposed compulsory health insurance for British Columbia, Mrs. Agnes Robinson told members of the Victoria West Community Forum in Victoria West United Church, Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Robinson, who is connected with the health insurance department of the Provincial Secretary's office, explained that no health insurance scheme in England or Europe made provisions for treatment of patients by members of the aforementioned professions.

DRAFT BILL

She said that the draft bill for presentation to the Provincial Legislature was completed on Wednesday, and no professional groups would find anything to their detriment contained within it.

All persons in receipt of salaries less than $1,000 per year would contribute to health insurance on the basis of a flat rate, Mrs. Robinson said. Those earning between $1,000 and $1,800 per year would contribute 2 per cent of their salaries, with a further 1 per cent put up by their employers. Benefits would include three weeks, free hospitalization and 50 per cent of the cost after twenty-one days.

THE UNEMPLOYED

Questioned regarding the possibility of benefits for unemployed, Mrs. Robinson stated in her opinion they were not suffering from lack of medical attention to the extent that low wage earners were. Only those who contributed to health insurance would receive benefits.

She told the audience that the health insurance committee was working out a plan whereby a man who worked for two years might have his health insurance carried on for a year if he became unemployed.

Rev. W. R. Brown, pastor of Victoria West United Church, tendered Mrs. Robinson a hearty vote of thanks.

TWO LINERS HERE TOMORROW; LUMBER VESSELS LOADING

Two trans-Pacific steamships will be calling here tomorrow. The first to arrive will be the Canadian Pacific liner Ss. Empress of Asia, which is coming inbound from the Philippines by way of Japan and China ports, and is due in the morning. The other vessel will be the American Mail Line Ss. President Jefferson, which is going in the opposite direction and touching at the same principal ports of call in the Far East.

Completing her cargo here, the freighter Bronnoy shifted to New Westminster last evening. The Anglo-Australian will complete about noon today, and will then leave for Port Alberni.

Coming in from Grafton early last evening, the freighter Thistleford tied up alongside the Ogden Point Piers and will commence loading today; while King Brothers were expecting the Wellington Court in overnight to load lumber cargo.

MIRIAM HOPKINS IS AT DOMINION

Miriam Hopkins and Joel McCrea, the glamorous romantic team of "Barbary Coast," are together again in "Splendor," Samuel Goldwyn's new production, which comes to the Dominion Theatre today for three days.

The story, written by Rachel Crothers under the new author-producer arrangement whereby the author will share in the profits of the enterprise in lieu of the payment of a specific sum for the script, casts Miss Hopkins in the role of Phylis Manning, a charming Southern beauty, who marries Brighton Lorrimore, scion of a once-great New York family, which clings to its Fifth Avenue mansion as the last symbol of its crumbling grandeur.

Brighton takes Phylis home and she receives a cold reception from his embittered, imperious mother, who had planned to recoup the family fortunes by marrying him to a sausage heiress.

When Martin Deering, a wealthy and influential relative, is obviously fascinated by Phylis, her mother-in-law urges her to cultivate him. Deering arranges a profitable business connection for Brighton and frankly admits to Phylis that his action is prompted solely by his interest in her.

Finally, when there is a big Mexican oil deal upon which Brighton has blindly set his heart pending, Phylis pays Deering's price rather than disillusion her success-mad husband, and a gripping climax ensues.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE Bing Crosby sings his "I Wished on the Moon" number with a double trio and a male chorus in the Paramount comedy, "The Big Broadcast of 1936," featuring Jack Oakie, Burns and Allen and Lyda Roberti, now at the Playhouse Theatre.

LITTLE ORPHEUM THEATRE Fredric March was shackled and chained from head to foot every morning, with a three-inch wide iron collar locked around his neck, during the filming of prison ship scenes in 20th Century's "Les Miserables," now at the Little Orpheum Theatre. And to add insult to injury, Director Richard Boleslawski personally locked him into this grim device and pocketed the key—just in case of emergency!

COLUMBIA THEATRE Wives can no longer use the old excuse, "I couldn't find a button, dear, or I would have sewed it on." Bill Gargan, Warner Bros. player in "Don't Bet on Blondes," now at the Columbia Theatre, is adapting the chain-letter idea and instead of asking for dimes, asks for buttons. "Just think," he said, "15,000 buttons for every home. It will be the greatest boon that ever happened to married men."

CAPITOL THEATRE "A Tale of Two Cities," the Charles Dickens classic, will be shown at the Capitol Theatre for the last times today. Ronald Colman and Elizabeth Allan are seen in the leading roles. Edna May Oliver, Basil Rathbone and Reginald Owen are also in the cast.

EMPIRE THEATRE Matheson Lang, the great British actor, is now appearing on the screen of the Empire Theatre in "The Great Defender," a British International production packed with thrills and legal dignity. Also on the same bill is Will Hay in "Dandy Dick," a full-length feature comedy.

AMUSEMENTS

On the Screen

Empire—"The Great Defender," with Matheson Lang.

Playhouse — The Big Broadcast of 1936," starring Jack Oakie.

LOCAL PLAYS TO BE PRESENTED WEDNESDAY

The Victoria Little Theatre Association will present two one-act plays by local authors next Wednesday evening at the Christ Church Memorial Hall in aid of Anglican Theological College bursary fund.

Ellen O'Brien's play, "Through Other Eyes," which received great praise at the recent sub-regional contest of the Dominion Drama Festival, will be the first to be presented.

The second play on this programme is a one-act comedy by H. J. S. Reynolds, entitled "Sudden Death." Other items on the same programme will be by pupils of the Enid Cole Dramatic School, and Miss Audrey Wood will offer piano selections during intermissions and prior to the curtain, which will be at 8.15 p.m.

MANUAL TRAINING PRIVILEGE ASKED

A petition from Roman Catholic organizations in this city that the school board extend the privilege of manual training instruction to students attending St. Louis College was received by the city school board last night.

Trustee W. C. Moresby, K.C., chairman, read the School Act governing such education, and subject to confirmation of the interpretation of the act, the petitioners will be notified that the school board has no power to extend its educational services beyond the bounds of its own schools.

What Today Means

"AQUARIUS"

If February 14 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:10 a.m. to 12:10 p.m., from 2:10 to 4:10 p.m. and from 7:10 to 9:10 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:10 to 10:10 a.m., from 5:10 to 7:10 p.m. and from 9:10 to 11:10 p.m.

St. Valentine's Day should inspire only loving thoughts. Those who express their hatred and scorn, through the anonymous medium of a Valentine, probably will have forcefully brought home to them a realization of how contemptible they have been to smudge sentiment with spleen. This is likely to be a day of retribution for any evil or wrong committed. Business activities are likely to be productive of excellent results. An auspicious day for friendly gatherings, parties and organization meetings. A spirit of friendly competition perhaps will add a zest to commercial and social life. Any advances of an amicable nature you may make this day will be probably favorably received. Married and engaged couples, and those to whom romance has just come, will make a great mistake in ignoring the opportunity the sentimental spirit of the day offers for the expression of ardent affection.

If a woman, and February 14 is your birthday, artistic influences probably will have a decidedly impelling power in your life, perhaps in your selection of a career. You ought to be very musical, possibly with a latent talent for composing. You may be inclined to discuss your personal affairs too freely with strangers. It might be well to remember that comparatively few people are really interested in your individual problems. Do not let your mind be absorbed by thoughts of having only a good time. You should each day do some constructive reading or studying, for it may prove of great value to you in the very near future. A splendid opportunity for advancing in your social and financial condition may present itself. As a musician, artist, actress, professional dancer or author, you might have a chance of scoring a great success. Marriage is likely to be a help in the furtherance of your ambitions.

The child born on February 14 probably will be very clever with its hands and dexterous with its feet from its earliest childhood.

If a man, and February 14 is your natal day, you will probably be more successful financially through some prosaic line of endeavor or a literary career than any other activity. Through manufacturing, inventing, engineering, teaching or selling, good fortune may reward your efforts.

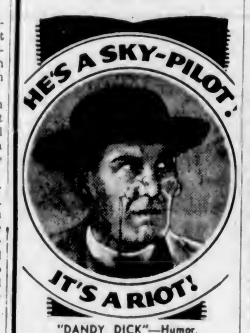

Piles Go Quick
With Dr. Leonhardt's Prescription
Many sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have found out that quick relief can be had with an internal medicine.
Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel is the cause of piles. The veins are congested a flabby the bowel walls weak. That is why an internal medicine like HEM-ROID should be used. HEM-ROID stimulates the circulation, relieves the pressure of blood in the veins of the lower bowel and helps to heal and restore the sore, tender parts.
HEM-ROID is the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, who spent several years of his professional life in finding the cause of piles and the medicine that would remove them. His medicine succeeds because it tends to correct the cause.
No matter what kind of piles you have or how long you have had them, if you want to try HEM-ROID, you have our promise to give you back your money if you do not find quick and satisfying relief, after using just one bottle.
MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores or any druggist can supply you. (Advt.)

Foreign-Trade Zone Will Encourage and Expedite Commerce

Grant Recently Made to New York Interests for Area at Stapleton, Staten Island—Initial Outlay Will Be $4,600,000

Secretary Roper, chairman of the United States Foreign-Trade Zones Board, announces a grant to the City of New York of the privilege of establishing, operating and maintaining a foreign-trade zone at Stapleton, Staten Island, New York.

This grant was made in accordance with the Foreign-Trade Zones Act (48 Stat. 998, 1,001), approved June 18, 1934, which was sponsored in the Seventy-Third Congress by Congressman Emanuel Celler, of New York, and which provides for the "establishment, operation and maintenance of foreign-trade zones in ports of entry in the United States, to expedite and encourage foreign commerce and for other purposes."

The board, which in addition to the Secretary of Commerce, consists of the Secretary of the Treasury and the Secretary of War, in making the grant, restricted the area to five piers (12, 13, 14, 15 and 16), and the adjacent upland territory, consisting of a land and water area of approximately seventy-eight acres. The land area, exclusive of the piers, embraces about eighteen acres. The orginal application contemplated the use of twelve piers, with a land and water area of 200 acres. The grant carries with it the privilege of constructing a seven-story warehouse and manipulating building, with a floor area of 1,196,685 square feet; this structure will cost approximately $3,500,000.

COST MILLIONS

It is expected that the entire initial development will cost approximately $4,600,000. Under the terms of the grant, construction must begin within twenty days, and be completed within nine months. It is the plan of the grantee, however, to have the barrier constructed and the same ready for limited operation within from ninety to 120 days from the date of the grant. As there is no provision in the act for the expenditure of Federal funds in connection with the construction and equipment of a foreign-trade zone, the project will be financed by the municipality of New York.

Secretary Roper has been very much interested in the foreign-trade zone movement in the United States, and visualizes the development of new transshipment, re-export and consignment markets, as well as enhanced opportunity for American shipping, stating that transshipment business has been an important factor in the development of some of the world's leading ports.

The purpose of foreign-trade zones is to foster the dealing in foreign goods which are received, not for domestic consumption, but for reshipment to foreign markets and for manipulation, including combining with domestic merchandise previous to exportation. It is the belief of those interested in the development of foreign-trade zones in the United States that they will eliminate cumbersome restrictions necessarily imposed on goods under customs supervision. Particular advantages are expected to accrue to ports of strategic location, cosmopolitan in character, and sustaining world-wide shipping connections.

ISOLATED AREA

The act under which this zone is established defines a zone as an isolated, enclosed and policed area in or adjacent to a port of entry, without resident population, except the necessary administrative personnel. The zone will be operated as a public utility under Federal supervision, and commodities will be free from the usual customs regulations. The law requires that foreign-trade zones be furnished with the necessary facilities for loading, unloading, storing, and manipulating, but prohibits manufacturing or exhibiting. Within the zone, merchandise may be broken up, repacked, assembled, distributed, assorted, graded, cleaned, stored, mixed for foreign or domestic merchandise, or otherwise be manipulated and exported. Foreign merchandise may be sent into customs territory therefrom, in the original package or otherwise but it is then subject to the laws and regulations affecting imported merchandise.

MAIN CHANNEL CLEAR OF ICE

Small Boats and Tides Keep Fraser River Open to Shipping

VANCOUVER, Feb. 13 (C.).—The main channel of the Fraser River at New Westminster has remained clear of ice although there is a heavy movement from farther up the stream. This ice, two or three inches thick, is carried away by the tide.

Scows were frozen in the thin ice at the sides of the river but were easily moved by small craft.

Ice, approximately three inches thick, formed on the North Arm of the river extending nearly across the channel, and towing of logs on that stream was only possible after small boats had broken ice from the shoreline and it had moved out to sea with the falling tide.

Traffic on the North Arm of Burrard Inlet had continued regular and the ice that formed there during the previous cold spell has all cleared.

VANCOUVER SHIPPING

VANCOUVER, Feb. 13 (C.).—Space for nearly 1,000,000 bushels of wheat was booked here today at rates ranging from 19 to 20 shillings. Most of this amount is for February loading.

The Pearlmoor and Badjestan were booked for full cargoes at 19 shillings and parcels were fixed for other vessels.

THIS NATURAL FOOD GENTLY REGULATES YOUR SYSTEM

Furnishes Needed "Bulk" for Regular Habits

Your doctor will tell you that keeping healthy depends far more on proper diet than on drugs, that common constipation is usually due to insufficient "bulk" in meals, and that patent medicines give you only temporary relief.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies gently acting "bulk" which corrects the cause of common constipation.* This "bulk" takes up moisture, forming a soft mass which helps to cleanse the system.

ALL-BRAN gives your body the regular internal exercise it needs to prevent sluggishness. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and iron.

Careful studies on men and women have shown that this delicious cereal is perfectly satisfactory. Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity, with milk or cream—or use in cooking.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. ALL-BRAN is much more effective than part-bran products. Avoid disappointment—get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

AIRLINES KEPT ITS SCHEDULES

In Spite of Cold Wave, Northwest Planes Made Winter Record

Is the severest cold wave on record slowing up air travel? Not according to a statement issued by Northwest Airlines, which shows that during January 94 per cent of their scheduled miles were completed—an advance of 15 per cent over the same period last year.

"Despite unusually heavy snows and sub-zero temperatures, our ships are continuing to make the best Winter schedule record of any time in the ten years' history of the company," according to advices from the Seattle office.

One of the reasons for this improvement is the adoption this year of a new type of de-icing equipment, which enables planes to fly through icing conditions to more favorable levels. This new de-icer consists of a rubber sack, something like an inner tube, which fits over the forward edge of the wings. As soon as ice starts to form, these sacks are inflated at intervals by a vacuum pump, thus causing a regular breathing action that breaks up the ice before it has a chance to pile up on the wings. Previous attempts to melt the ice by electrical heating devices were unsuccessful because of the high wind velocity.

It is believed that Northwest Airlines is the only major airline in the country to equip its entire fleet with the new de-icers.

BUILDING TWO FAST VESSELS

Johnson Line May Give One Of Ships British Columbia Name

VANCOUVER, Feb. 13 (C.). — The Johnson Line will add two sixteen-knot motorships, duplicates in tonnage, form, passenger and refrigerator accommodation of the motorships Argentine and Nordstjernan, to their fleet this Fall, it was announced today by J. K. Cavers, manager here for C. Gardner Johnson, Ltd., British Columbia agent for the line.

The two ships, which have not yet been named, will be built at the Gotaverken Yards at Gothenburg. One of the vessels may be given a distinctive British Columbia name.

SALVAGE CRAFT RAISE TUGBOAT

Prosperative on Way to Vancouver Escorted by Helac and Skookum II

VANCOUVER, Feb. 13 (C.).—Pacific Salvage Company, reports its boats Helac and Skookum II, have raised the tug Prosperative, owned by the M.R. Cliff and B.C. Mills Towing Company, and are escorting the vessel to Vancouver.

The tug was beached in MacKenzie Sound, twenty-five miles from Alert Bay, on February 3, after a hole was worn through the hull from continual shoving against thin ice on the surface of the water.

ADVISER TO MODEL CLUB

Naval Architect and Professor of Engineering Is Former Victorian

According to Seattle papers, members of the Puget Sound Model Yacht Club will, from now on, have the benefit of the advice of T. M. Rowlands, naval architect, of Seattle, and assistant professor of general engineering at the University of Washington.

On Tuesday night, Professor Rowlands addressed the members of the organization, which is of recent origin and affiliated with the Model Yacht Racing Association of America, which, in turn, is an affiliate of the International Model Yacht Racing Association.

The club already has a substantial membership, mostly business and professional men, who design, build and sail their own model yachts, holding regattas nearly every Sunday afternoon in Green Lake or a nearby wading pool. Their standard vessel is a sloop from six to seven feet in length, weighing from thirty-five to sixty-five pounds, with a mast from eight to eight and a half feet in length.

Professor Rowlands is the designer of the Catalyst, University of Washington oceanographic vessel, and a Tacoma fireboat, and recently published a scientific brochure on model yachts. He is a former Victorian, his father, formerly with the B.C. Coast Service of Canadian Pacific Steamships, and mother residing at 317 Phoenix Place. He came to Victoria as a lad of nine and attended South Park School and Victoria High School, going from there to the University of Washington, after which he went to the Boston Institute of Technology, returning to Seattle after he graduated from Boston "Tech."

Inter-City Plane Will Change Its Schedule Monday

On and after Monday, February 17, the Canadian Airways plane operating between Victoria and Vancouver will leave Victoria at 4 p.m., arriving at Vancouver at 4.45 p.m., according to advices received by Wallace Courtenay here yesterday. This change in schedule will be in effect until further notice.

In making the announcement, Mr. Courtenay pointed out that the company was making the change at this time with the object of giving business arrivals from Vancouver the benefit of an extra half-hour in Victoria. At the present time the hour of take-off from Esquimalt is 3:30 p.m.

BLUENOSE MAY COME TO COAST

Negotiations Under Way to Make Schooner Jubilee Exhibition Feature

VANCOUVER, Feb. 13 (C.).—The Nova Scotian racing schooner Bluenose, champion of the Atlantic fishing fleets, may visit Vancouver as a show boat about the second week in July in connection with the golden jubilee celebrations, J. K. Matheson, managing director of the jubilee, announced today.

He reported negotiations are under way with Captain Angus Walters, of Lunenberg, master of the vessel.

"Nothing definite has been arranged yet, but we are hopeful," he said.

Captain Walters announced some time ago that he was considering an offer from Victoria sportsmen to bring his boat to British Columbia waters.

MAROONS NOSE OUT LEAFS TO TAKE LEADERSHIP

Great Crowd Expected to Watch Gunners Battle On Newcastle's Home Grounds — Bradford City Faces Derby County—League Fixtures Will Take Place in Scottish League

LONDON, Feb. 13 (C.P.).—Eight First Division football teams and a similar number representing the Second League carry on the competition for the English Cup Saturday. Frost-bound grounds during the week have given trainers an anxious time getting their players fit for fifth-round play and much of the time has been given over to indoor work.

Enthusiasm runs high at Bradford, where both of the Yorkshire city's Second Division clubs—Bradford City and Bradford—engage famous teams. The former oppose Derby County, contender for the football league championship, while Bradford is host to the popular Tottenham Hotspurs.

Preparations for a great crowd are being made at Newcastle, where Newcastle United entertains Arsenal. The Gunners hope to avenge the 2-1 defeat inflicted on them by the Northerners in the English Cup final in 1932. The winning goal was strongly disputed.

TWO PLAYERS HURT

Two injured International players will be missed by the Londoners. Wilson will deputize for Moss in goal and Bowden will take Drake's place in the centre of the attack.

Two London rivals, Chelsea and Fulham, meet on the former's ground at Stamford Bridge.

Barnsley vs. Stoke.
Sheffield United vs. Leeds United.
Grimsby Town vs. Manchester City.
Newcastle United vs. Arsenal.
Bradford City vs. Derby County.
Bradford vs. Tottenham Hotspurs.
Chelsea vs. Fulham.
Middlesbrough vs. Leicester City.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE

GLASGOW, Feb. 13 (C.P.).—Probably the most disappointed and determined team in Scotland, Celtic, is on a stubborn drive to capture Scottish football honors this year. The team's cup hopes were shattered in the second round when St. Johnstone performed brilliantly to gain a 2-1 verdict, and the club is now concentrating all its efforts to lift the league trophy held by Glasgow Rangers.

The Celts haven't a clear path towards their goal. They have to contend with the leading Aberdeen club and Glasgow Rangers, who are in a second-position tie with the Parkhead eleven. Although Aberdeen can boast of a three-point lead, both runners-up have two games in hand.

At the other end of the league table, three teams are fighting hard to stay in the First Division when the 1936-37 season starts. Ayr United, with sixteen points, occupies the cellar position; one point up, Hibernians hold nineteenth place with sixteen points, and Airdrieonians are third from the bottom with seventeen points.

Both leaders in the Second Division are at home. Falkirk meets the third-place Morton outfit and St. Mirren should have an easier time against Edinburgh City.

FRED WORRALL

PORTSMOUTH'S brilliant forward. Partnered with Weddle, Pompey's high scoring ace, Worrall has made history in Southern England football circles. He is one of the most dangerous men on the Fratton Park team and his play-making is responsible for many of Weddle's goals. Worrall and Weddle have perfected their plays and the results are wonderful to watch. Worrall played in forty-one games last season, scoring 14 goals.

ENGLAND AND CZECHS WILL CLASH TODAY

British Hockey Squad Drawn Against Czechoslovakia—Two Games Saturday

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 13 (C.P.).—Following the advancement of the Canadian, English, American and Czechoslovakian teams in the final pool for the hockey championship of the fourth Olympic Winter Games, the draw for the final series waas announced tonight.

Friday, 9 p.m. — England vs. Czechoslovakia.
Saturday, 10 a.m. — Canada vs. Czechoslovakia.
Saturday, 9 p.m. — England vs United States.
Sunday, 2:30 p.m. — Canada vs. United States.

Local time is given. Substract nine hours for Pacific Standard time.

Under the play-off arrangements, the English and American teams enter the final round with a game advantage over the Canadian title defenders and the Czechs. England defeated Canada, 2-1, and the United States blanked the Czechs, 2-0, in the second round matches.

The system in vogue is to carry second-round results over into the titular series. At an international meeting today, this system was upheld by a 6-2 vote, Canada and Germany casting the ballots in opposition.

Canada's chances of maintaining dominance in the ice sport, as she has since the Winter Games were inaugurated, are not bright. Because they have two points in hand, it will be necessary for the English and American teams to suffer at least one defeat to block them from seizing the crown from Canada's brow.

The English team, built around a number of players who learned the game in Canada, appears to have the best chance of winning the title. On past performances, it should have little difficulty beating the Czechs, and will be favored in its game against the Americans, although it should be a hard-fought tilt. Two victories would give England her first hockey championship automatically.

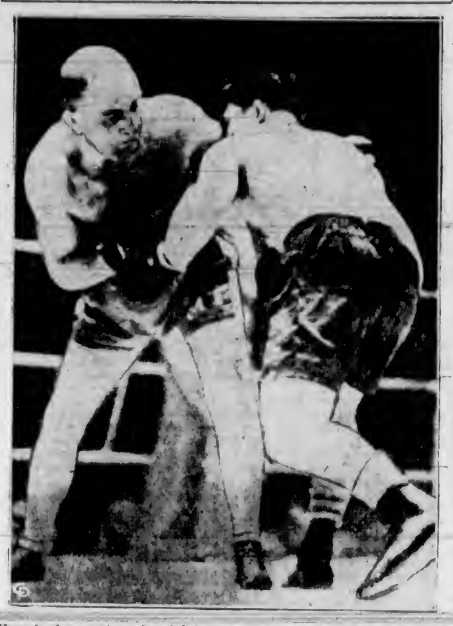

HAVE SLIM HOPES

On the other hand, the Americans have slim hopes of beating the Canadians. The Czechs should prove no serious opposition for the Dominion.

If the United States does turn back the Old Country and in turn is beaten by the Canucks, the series in all probability would wind up with Canada, England and the Americans tied in points. In that case total goals would count and the Canadians would be in an enviable position.

Through the second-series, which will figure in the final ratings, Canada scored twenty-two goals while being scored upon only four times. England has eight goals for and three against; the United States, five for and one against; Czechoslovakia, six for and four against.

Loses Fight on a Foul

Here is the punch—a low left-hand wallop thrown by Lou Brouillard, French-Canadian battler—that ended the title bout between Brouillard and Marcel Thil, of France, in the Palais Des Sports, Paris. The bald-headed Thil collapsed to the canvas a moment later, claiming a foul, and, though Brouillard protested, the French champion was awarded the decision. He thus retains his claim to the world middleweight throne.

Finds Net for Winning Tally With Less Than Two Minutes Left to Give Montreal 2-1 Decision —Detroit Blanks Boston, 1-0 — Hawks And Americans in Two-All Deadlock

MONTREAL, Feb. 13 (C.P.).—Toronto Maple Leafs went down before the Montreal Maroons, 2-1, in a National Hockey League game tonight as the Stanley Cup holders waited for a break and got it with less than two minutes to play when Gus Marker shot home the winning goal. The win gave Maroons undisputed possession of the first place in the league's Canadian section. Allan Shields was in the penalty box in the opening session as Baldy Northcott and Jimmy Ward broke away from a massed Leaf attack and Maroons went one up when Northcott took the right winger's pass and burned a low corner shot past Goalie George Hainsworth.

LORNE CHABOT

Less than a minute of the second period elapsed before Frank Finnigan tied it up as Bill Thoms sat in the penalty box serving a time he drew in the closing seconds of the first period.

In the third period, Lionel Conacher broke away with Bob Gracie. The pair barged through the Leaf defence and got the puck to Marker, who beat Hainsworth with a short backhander.

Lorne Chabot played his first game with Maroons in place of Billy Beveridge and turned in a nice effort. Mickey Blake teamed on the Leaf defence with Andy Blair.

WINGS BEAT BRUINS

DETROIT, Feb. 13 (A.P.). — Marty Barry's second-period goal gave Detroit Red Wings a 1-0 shutout over Boston Bruins in a National Hockey League game tonight before 8,000 fans.

Barry, acquired from Boston last Summer in a straight trade for Cooney Weiland, beat his old mates on an accurate pass from Herbie Lewis before the second period was six minutes old. Lewis, racing straight down the ice, slid the disc to Barry, whose fast shot got between Goalie Thompson's leg and the post.

Both teams back-checked so accurately through the three periods that neither Thompson in the Bruin net nor Smith in the Detroit cage were overworked. Thompson kicked out eighteen shots, while Smith had sixteen.

Detroit Subs—Lewis, Goodfellow, Aurie, Barry, W. Kilrea, Sorrell, Kelly, Bowman.

Summary

First Period—No scoring. Penalties: None.

Second Period—1, Detroit, Barry (Lewis), 5:40. Penalty: McDonald.

Third Period—No scoring. Penalty: Kaminsky.

PLAY TO DRAW

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (A.P.).—Chicago Black Hawks and New York Americans played to a two-goal tie in a spotty National Hockey League match before 10,000 fans tonight.

The split in points enabled the Chicagoans to climb into second place in the United States division, one point ahead of New York Rangers and Boston Bruins.

Johnny Gottselig, fleet wingman, gave the Hawks the lead by scoring on passes from Paul Thompson and Earl Seibert in the first frame. The advantage held until the middle session when Eddie Wiseman squared the count following a passing bout between Red Dutton, Sweeney Schriner and Art Chapman.

Five minutes later the Americans took the lead when Nels Stewart tallied on Joe Jerwa's assist. Less than four minutes remained of the third period when Glenn Brydson pulled the Hawks up even by netting Gottselig's pass.

Line-Ups

Americans	Position	Chicago
Worters	Goal	Karakas
Jerwa	Defence	Seibert
Murray	Defence	Weibe
Chapman	Centre	Romnes

Chicago Subs—T. Cook, Brydson, Levinsky, McFayden, Trudell, Gottselig, Ouilette, Burke, Larochelle.

Summary

First Period—1, Chicago, Gottselig (Thompson, Seibert), 14:05. Penalties: Levinsky, Cotton, Trudell.

Second Period — 2, New York, Wiseman (Dutton, Schriner, Chapman), 12:27; 3, New York, Stewart (Jerwa), 17:33. Penalties: Schriner, Levinsky, Wiseman, Emms, Murray.

Third Period—4, Chicago Brydson (Gottselig), 16:13. Penalties: Wiebe, Dutton.

Helen Stephens Ties Record For Fifty-Metre Dash at St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 13 (C.P.).—A relay team from the Supreme Athletic Club of Toronto, stood shorn today of its 400-metre United States championship while Helen Stephens, the versatile Missouri farm girl, was crowned with new athletic glory.

While the Toronto girls were tumbling before the speed of a St. Louis athletic club four in the women's national track and field meet here last night, the lanky Miss Stephens was equalling the world's record for fifty metres and scoring triumphs in the standing broad jump and eight-pound shot-put.

The Toronto relay team that placed second to the St. Louisans was composed of Hilda Cameron, Thelma Norton, Olive Hinder and Eula Fortune. Their vanquishers in the good time of 53.3, were May Brady, Harrietee Bland, Jess Crain and Edna Gustavon. The winners triumphed by a good margin.

Toronto girls took two other seconds, Hilda Cameron finishing ten yards behind Annette Rogers, of Chicago, who won the 200-metre run in 29.7, and Roxy Atkin placing second in the fifty-yard hurdles. Tidye Pickett, Chicago negress, was the winner in 7.9. The favored Chicago Olympian, Evelyne Hall, was third.

Miss Stephens sparkling time of 6.4 in the fifty-metre dash tied the world record, of which the great Stella Walsh is a co-holder, and set a new national indoor mark. Harriette Bland, of St. Louis was second in this event.

The peerless Helen then established another record—a new United States mark of forty-one feet seven inches for the eight-pound shot-put. The old mark of forty feet, eleven inches was set by Reta Macdonald, Boston girl, in 1934.

Helen's third championship came in the standing broad jump, in which she beat out Nan Gindele, Chicago, with a jump of eight feet, four and one-half inches.

Practice Shoot Held by Archers

With approximately thirty members in attendance, the Victorian Archers' Club staged a practice shoot yesterday evening on their indoor range in the basement of the Strathcona Hotel. Keen interest was displayed in the shoot and some excellent scores were put up.

Tentative arrangements for a display of archery equipment in the Strathcona Hotel basement, in the near future, were made. A demonstration of how to make arrows and other equipment will also be carried out.

Nordal Kaldahl, of Wells, B.C., was third, finishing in 1:19:12, and W. Hansen, of Princeton, finished sixth in 1:27:59. J. Jameson, of Revelstoke, did not finish the race.

K. Ahlstrom, of Princeton, won the Class "B" event in 1:20:23, with J. Paulson, of Princeton, second in 1:23:14, and Gantonsen, of Princeton, third in 1:32.

House of David Cagers Will Be Out To Avenge Wednesday's Defeat

SMARTING under the 46-24 defeat they suffered Wednesday evening at the hands of the Victoria Dominoes, Canadian cage champions, touring House of David basketballers from Benton Harbor, Michigan, will be out for revenge when the squads meet again this evening at the Victoria High School gymnasium in the second and final game of the exhibition series. The fixture will get under way shortly after 9 o'clock. The preliminary tussle, scheduled to commence at 8 o'clock, will bring together Duncan and Kingham-Gillespie, intermediate "A" boys' quintettes in the final game of the two-game total-point play-offs. Playing on their home floor Monday evening the Up-Islanders chalked up a 34-26 decision, and will take the floor with a twelve-point advantage. Total points will decide the winners, who will advance to the Vancouver Island final. Jack Taylor, president of the Victoria and District Basketball League, announced yesterday that another capacity crowd is assured for tonight's fixtures.

BY RAY COLLETT

Rookie honors for this season so far must go to Mike Karakas, pin-wheel goalkeeper who stepped into the shoes of Lorne Chabot after the Vezina trophy winner tore a muscle in training.

Karakas was at the end of his tether when Chicago gave him his break this year. He was out of a job, despite the fact that he topped American Association goalies last season, and he tried almost every camp around the various circuits in vain. Then he tried Chicago, and Hawks, who had sold their veteran reserve, Joe Starke, called him in.

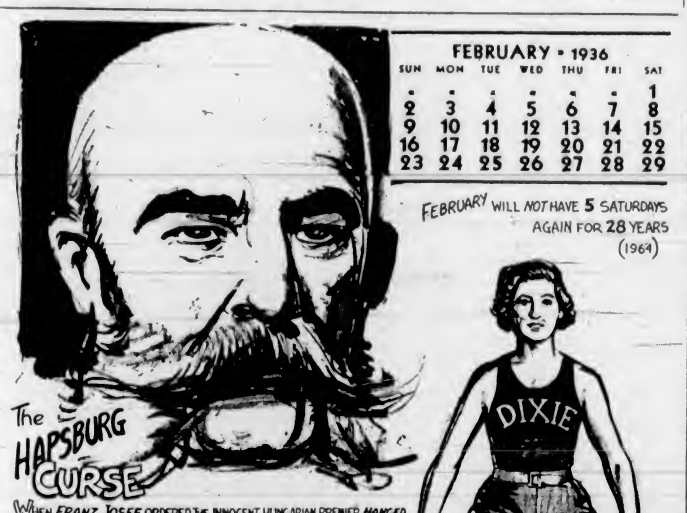

That was Mike's chance. When Chabot was injured, he had to start the season, and he proved his courage and ability without question.

Though arguments arise about his nationality, he claims to be of Czech descent and born in Eveleth, Minn. Like the great late Charlie Gardiner he is cat-like, swift and sure when he moves. He chatters incessantly while between the gaspipes. Behind him is a grim determination to make good—and a deadly fear of that jobhunting period again. Unlike Gardiner, he plays the puck and not the man when a forward gets in close, and in the nets he is a veritable tornado, with arms, legs, pads, stick and gloves all mustered for that one supreme purpose—keep out that puck! Karakas looks like a real find.

CANADA DEFEATS GERMANY IN ROUGH BATTLE

Stay in Running For Puck Honors By Fine Victory

Defending Olympic Champions Crush Germans, 6-2, to Advance to Final Round — Crowd of 10,000 Boos Tactics Used by Canadians —England, U.S. and Czechs Victorious

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 13 (AP). — Canada's powerful hockey squad defending the Olympic championship, again fought with its back to the wall tonight and crushed Germany, 6-2, to qualify for the final round of the fourth Winter Games. Before a crowd of 10,000, plus thousands packed around the stadium, the Dominion's hockeymen dropped the gentleness that had marked earlier games and gave the German team, the German populace and German Government officials a lesson in the art of bodychecking. The bumps were perfectly legal, but the opposing hockeymen didn't like them and neither did the pro-German crowd.

DAVE NEVILLE

The fans booed the Canadian team continually and interspersed the razzing with cat-calls at the officials, particularly Walter Brown, manager of the United States team, who learned his hockey lore at Toronto.

At one time the demonstration was so pronounced that Joseph Paul Goebbels, German Minister for Propaganda, arose in the official box and motioned for the crowd to cease. Goebbels was a colorful picture, dressed in the costume of Daniel Boone. He was accompanied by Herman Goering, Minister for Air, and other dignitaries.

Canada will enter the final series handicapped by a defeat suffered at the hands of the English team, Tuesday night. The latter enters the finale already possessing two points for that victory.

DECISION MADE

At a special meeting of Olympic hockey authorities today a proposal was offered allowing all teams in the final round to start on an equal footing, but the suggestion was thrown out, only Canada and Germany voting in favor of it.

As a result of this adverse decision the Canadian puckslers were reported seething as they took the ice. From the opening faceoff, the champions swept their slower opponents back into the German defensive zone and only wild shooting prevented the Canadians taking the lead quicker than they did.

Ralph St. Germain, flashy Ottawan with the great change-of-pace, finally found the mark by taking Hughie Farquharson's neat pass to hoist the rubber into the enemy cage.

There was no further scoring in the opening chapter, but there was plenty of excitement. The hard checking had several feuds cropping out and Brown was forced to call a halt a number of times and make the feudists shake hands.

Farquharson took a pass from St. Germain early in the middle frame for the second counter. Less than four minutes later Dave Neville, another of the brilliant Montrealers, scored on Farquharson's pass. Still another Montrealer entered the picture in the late minutes of the period when Kenny Farmer made German eyes pop with a spectacular rush from his own blueline right up to the enemy cage to score the Dominion's fourth goal.

CROWD CALMED DOWN

The final period was a blend of hockey, shinny and a Donnybrook. Centre Wiedemann, of the Germans, started the session with a lovely goal, scored on his own rebound. The Maple Leaf representatives squared that one when St. Germain scored after a wild scramble in front of the German cage. The losers and the crowd raised a ruckus over that one and aimed their derision more at Brown than anyone else. It was then that Goebbels demanded

Neville scored his second marker of the game on a pass from Walter "Pud" Kitchen, body-checking defenceman from Toronto. The Canadians netted the rubber twice more, but the goal judge ruled them out.

The game wound up with terrific checking on the part of both teams, making the game resemble—to the uninitiated—an alley brawl rather than a typically strenuous hockey joust.

While the game appeared rough, only eight penalties were meted out. That the Canadian checking was perfectly clean was reflected in the sentences handed out by the officials, for the Canadians drew only three.

Summary

First Period—1, Canada, St. Germain (Farquharson), 6:15. Penalties: Schibukat, Neville, Wiedemann.

Second Period — 2, Canada, Farquharson (St. Germain), 3:50; 3, Canada, Neville (Farquharson), 7:20; 4, Canada, Farmer, 12:05.

Third Period—5, Germany, Wiedemann, 1:50; 6, Canada, St. Germain, 5:10; 7, Canada, Neville (Kitchen), 8:15; 8, Germany, Strobl, 14:35. Penalties: Thomson, Schibukat, Neville, Kogel.

Final Score — Canada 6, Germany 2.

Golf Tourney Is Changed to Oak Bay Links

IT was officially announced last night by Captain J. V. Perks, secretary of the Victoria Golf Club, that owing to the Colwood links being covered with snow, the eighth annual Empress Mid-Winter tournament has been switched to the Oak Bay course. The meet will get under way Monday, with qualifying rounds set for both men and women over the eighteen-hole distance. The Colwood course was declared unplayable and officials thought it would be wise to swing the meet to the sporty Oak Bay links. Captain Perks stated yesterday that Oak Bay was in fine condition, although the fairways were still a little hard, but there was no snow on the course. Only a fall of snow will cause the postponement of the tournament, which is expected to attract one of the largest entries in history. Albert "Scotty" Campbell is heading a strong representative field from Seattle, while competitors will be here from all parts of Canada. Campbell is a former Canadian champion and present holder of the P.N.W. amateur crown.

Proposal to Revise Ice Ruling Is Turned Down

Canada and Germany Only Countries to Vote for Change in Play-Off System at Olympic Games—Vote Is 6-2 in Favor

GARMISCH - PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 13 (CP).—A proposal for revising the present complicated system of deciding the Olympic hockey championship was defeated this evening at a special meeting of the Olympic hockey authorities. The vote was 6-2 against any change. Canada and Germany were the only countries favoring revision.

As matters stand now Canada, by tieing Germany in the first game on tonight's programme, will enter the final group with England, Czechoslovakia and probably the United States. However, should the latter win against Sweden tonight the Americans and English will enter the final with the advantage of undefeated records, while Canada must shoulder the surprise defeat inflicted upon her by England in the second round.

Making matters more complicated is the fact Canada will not have a chance to avenge her defeat by the English, as under the present system a team defeating another in the second round does not have to play that outfit in the final.

IT ALL DEPENDS

Canada's chance to retain the title she has won at every Olympic Games therefore depends on the United States walloping England. Canada then must defeat the Americans. Should that develop and Czechoslovakia not upset things, there would be a tie with the goal averages deciding the winner.

While E. A. Gilroy, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, denied he demanded today's emergency session be called, reports circulated last night that Canada threatened to withdraw unless the playoff system was changed.

While Germany cannot hope to have any interest in the final round unless she wins from Canada, it was reported the Germans had much to do with the calling of the meeting. When the issue came down to a vote, however, the two countries found themselves alone; even the United States, which has sided with Canada in all previous controversies, went with the opposition.

Tenpin Bowling Series to Start In The Colonist

STARTING Sunday, a new feature will commence in The Colonist. It is a series of tenpin bowling articles written by the world's greatest woman bowler, Mrs. Floretta D. McCutcheon, who has long been conceded the equal of the best male exponents of the world. Mrs. McCutcheon, who is known wherever bowlers gather, is qualified to teach this popular indoor pastime. She has several times rolled perfect games of 300, and has beaten the best bowlers on the continent. Her articles will appeal to men and women alike. There will be ten illustrated articles. Watch for the first article. You will have a fascinating illustrated bowling feature by one of the greatest authorities playing the game.

GOOD MATCHES ARE LINED UP FOR MAT CARD

Victoria Wrestling Fans Promised Plenty of Action Tomorrow Evening

Victoria mat fans are promised plenty of fireworks tomorrow evening at the Tillicum Gymnasium when four of the "bad men" of the bone-bending pastime get into action in the two feature matches on Promoter Fred Richardson's all-star grappling card.

Headlining the attractive programme will be "Wee" Willie Davis, 260-pound Norfolk, Virginia, wrestler, and Mayes McLain, good-looking young Cherokee Indian, and expert manipulator of the leg scissors. They will go eight ten-minute rounds, or the best two out of three falls.

KRUSE RETURNS

Rugged Bob Kruse, Oswego, Oregon, and one of the roughest men in the "wrassling" game, returns to the local battle front to match holds with Nelson Davis, younger brother of "Wee" Willie Davis, in the five eight-minute round semi-windup.

Louis Newman, Victoria light-heavyweight, and Billy Khonke, Mainland squirmer, will meet in the five six-minute round special event, which will open the show at 8:45 o'clock.

MAKES DEBUT

Nelson Davis will be making his Victoria debut when he tackles Kruse in the semi-windup. The Oregonian, a master showman and good wrestler, is capable of taking care of himself in the best of company, and should be able to cope with any rough tactics that Davis might hand out.

The special event will bring together two well-matched boys, and gives promise of being an interesting bout.

Is Starring With Ice Champions

HERBIE "SUGAR" CAIN

IS a comparatively new star in the National Hockey League firmament, but already he has earned a place for himself because of his performances last season and during the present schedule. He was with the world champions last year and the Montreal Maroons supporters like his style.

Remember When

(Twenty-Five Years Ago)

Joe Bayley, the star Victoria West boxer, the man who has been the hero of so many amateur bouts and is the idol of practically all local lovers of the manly art, has definitely decided to make his debut as a professional on or before March 2. He has given his signature to such a contract, and his opponent is to be Ed Munyer, the Chicago newsboy pug, the bantamweight and featherweight champion of the four states, a lad who has recently arrived here and is eagerly looking for honors.

Where the fifteen-round mill will be staged has not yet been decided. It is under consideration. However, that is about the only point that has not been settled. It has been agreed that Marquis of Queensbury rules, with the clean break, shall govern, and that both men must weigh in at 130 pounds at 9 o'clock on the forenoon of the day of the contest. As an evidence of good faith, a $50 forfeit has been posted by both men with the sporting editor of The Colonist.

Bayley is in the hands of Sammy Dufty. He starts training immediately. Munyer has an able trainer. He is not going to lose any time in putting himself in fit shape.

That two new lapstreak doubles be purchased without further delay so that sculling may be encouraged among our members.

Stock and Bond Prices Firm at New York Mart

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP).—Buying forces were selective but confident in today's stock market and a wide variety of issues pushed forward briskly to new five-year highs.

The advance was not altogether unanimous, and a lot of profit taking had to be overcome on the upward jaunt, although at the fast finish a general strong undertone was in evidence.

The Associated Press average of sixty stocks held a gain of .5 of a point at 61.9. This was another peak for the composite since August 20, 1931. Transfers totaled 2,929,600 shares, compared with 3,361,700 on Tuesday.

Steel stocks were given another upward tilt when scrap prices at Chicago and Pittsburgh again were lifted.

Some of the motors, led by Chrysler, joined the bullish swing, ignoring the current hesitancy in automotive distribution. Slackness in this industry was blamed principally on extreme weather conditions.

WHEAT FUTURES DROP SLIGHTLY

Values at Winnipeg Market Follow Liverpool on Downward Path

WINNIPEG, Feb. 13 (CP). — Importers' needs filled for the time being, wheat prices weakened in a quiet session of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today to record losses of 1-2 to 1-4 cent. The May futures closed at 84; July, 84 7-8, and October, 83 7-8 cents.

Yesterday's 2,500,000-bushel export sales apparently had filled immediate foreign demand for wheat, and today's sales totaled less than 200,000 bushels.

Profit-Taking Takes Edge Off Rise of Base Metals —Golds Easier

Small gainers were Sudbury Basin up 5 at 4.55; Sherritt a point, and Noranda 1-8. McIntyre, Hollinger, Pioneer and Wright-Hargreaves chalked up moderate recessions.

In the oils, Texas-Canadian advanced 6 cents to 4.42.

Brazilian Traction Leads in Advance at Eastern Exchanges

Other utilities were irregularly lower though British Columbia Power finished up ½.

TORONTO EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Feb. 13 (CP).—Brazilian Traction was the bell-wether in the advance on the industrial board of the Toronto Stock Exchange today, rising ⅞ to 14⅛ in heavy turnover.

Other stocks were less spectacular. Walkers common gained ⅜ to 33¾, Page Hersey 2 to 93, Dominion Bridge ⅝ and Steel of Canada preferred ¼.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

BOSSY

There's more than meets the in Bossy—familiar pet name a cow or calf.

Bossy is a carry-over fr the olden days and an abbrev on of boss-calf or boose-calf.

In this connection boo is from the Anglo-Saxon "bos akin to various cognate forms the Icelandic, Swedish and D sh tongues, in a of which the word meant su barn or crib.

ssy, in other words or its pro- stress, so to speak, "boss-calf," simply a cow that was kept in barn as distinguished from the name of any particular animal—an application which was a natural development.

A fellow said to a famous sprinter: "I'll race you and beat you if you'll let me choose the course and give me a yard's start."

"Fifty dollars to one you don't, said the sprinter, confidently "Name your course."

"Up a ladder," said the challenger.

Jane Dixon Says:

WE CAN NO MORE BE HELD ACCOUNTABLE FOR THE COMMITMENTS OF OUR PARENTS THAN WE CAN LAY CLAIM TO THEIR CREDITS

We are the sum of our own thoughts, our own deeds, our own successes, our own failures.

We can no more be held accountable for the commitments of our parents than we can lay claim to their credits.

We must ennoble ourselves.

Once we have done so, we have no need ever to blush for the behavior of those to whom we owe the accident of birth.

A young girl writes me in a welter of misery about a situation over which she says she has no control.

PARENTS WERE NOT MARRIED

"My mother and father were not married," she confides. "Mother is dead. Father never has had any use for me, never has supported me or even seen me more than a few times. Through the kindness of strangers I've been educated and given work so that I can make my own living.

"Now, I've met a fine young man. We love one another. He has asked me to marry him. I want to marry him. I know I can make him a good and an honorable wife.

"But, Miss Dixon, how can I tell him the truth about my birth? It seems to me I'd rather die than confess that shame. Please tell me what I can do with my life.—S. V."

Answer: First you must get yourself into a proper, a truthful state of mind.

The truth is that you have no shame to confess.

You may and you should tell the young man the circumstances of your birth. But do so with the knowledge in your heart and in your head that you are narrating an unfortunate circumstance in the past of your parents, not an existing condition in your own present.

You are what you have made yourself, an earnest, honest, helpful young woman who is entitled to the admiration and the respect of all self-respecting people.

The fact you have done so without the guidance or the assistance of those whose duty it was to see you safely through your childhood into maturity is to your credit and to their eternal shame.

FATHER DESERVES PUBLIC CONDEMNATION

Especially is this true of the father. Long ago he should have been brought before a court of justice, where he would have been made to meet his obligations and where his conduct would have been a matter for public condemnation.

Allowing such a creature, who masquerades as a man, to pursue his way without exacting a penalty for his depredations and his ruthless disregard of duty is to condone despicability, perhaps to encourage others who are incipient cowards and quitters.

His shame, not yours, should be published before the world.

I hope the young man who has come into your shadowed life to bring the sunshine with him, has the same strength of character you have shown, and the same tenacity.

If he has, he will listen to your story with understanding and with pride in your accomplishment. He will love you the more for what you are and what you have suffered.

And he will urge you to make legal reprisal on the wretched being who abandoned his own child to strangers.

Hold your head high and do not fear truth.

I am wishing you happiness and I have a hunch you are going to find it, abundantly, soon.

Norwegian Clips Time Off Record At the Olympiad

Charles Mathisen Shaves Mark for 1,500 Metres —Hagen Captures Ski Event—Canada Garners First Point — Mobraeton Well Up — Germany Leading Norway by Two Points

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 13 (C.)—Germany and Norway, the top-ranking nations of the fourth Winter Olympics, garnered three more championships today as Canada whipped the Teutons at hockey but lost a decision on the convention floor. Shortly before Canada's defenders of the hockey championship skated out for an impressive 6-2 triumph over the strong German team and advanced to the finals, a special meeting of Olympic hockey officials voted to uphold the play-off arrangements. That means that the English and United States teams will have a game in hand over those of Canada and Czechoslovakia, the other finalists.

TOM MOBRAETON

Norway picked up thirty-five points, with Charles Mathisen's victory in the 1,500-metre speed-skating event and Oddbjorn Hagen's ski triumph in the cross-country and jumping combination showing the way. Then Germany bounced back to the top of the unofficial team ranking, with 107 points against Norway's 105, when Maxie Herber and Ernst Baier captured the pairs figure skating crown.

Canada garnered her first point when Louise Bertram and Stewart Reburn, of Toronto, finished sixth in the figure skating. They impressed a big gallery and announcement that they were rated so low brought derisive whistling from the crowd.

Canada's four entrants in the combined ski event showed up well in the jumping today but could not threaten the leaders because of their poor standing in the 18 kilometre race Tuesday.

WHITE FAR BEHIND

The Dominion's only speed skater, Tommy White, of Saint John, finished far back in the 1,500-metre grind, in which the winning Mathisen set a new Olympic record of 2:19.2. White was fifteen seconds behind him, failing to show the good form he did in earlier races.

A clean sweep of all four speed-skating championships appeared to be in Norway's grasp. The Norsemen made it three in a row, when Mathisen shaved 1.9 seconds off the former Olympic standard for 1,500 metres hung up by Clas Thunberg, the great Finn, in 1928.

To make the Norwegian triumph the more complete, Ivar Ballangrund, who had equaled the Olympic record and smashed another in winning the 500-metre and 5,000-metre titles, finished second today. Leo Freisinger, nineteen-year-old Chicagoan, who had taken third place in the 500 metres, could do no better than fourth, but forced all three who led him to better Thunberg's time. Ballangrund was caught in 2:20.2 and Birger Vasenius, of Finland, who was third, in 2:20.9.

Norway swept the first three places in the conbination ski run and jumping championship. Hagen, the winner, compiled 430.3 points. Second place went to Olaf Hoffsbakken with 419.8 and third to Sverre Brodahl with 408.1.

Hagen, who finished second to Arthur Larsson, of Sweden, in the 18-kilometre run Tuesday, fared well in the jumping averages today. His two jumps, measuring forty-two and forty-six metres (137.76 and 150.88 feet, respectively), were exceeded by many competitors, but distance was secondary to form in the judges' calculations. Larsson did not enter the combined event.

MOBRAETON SIXTH

Tom Mobraeton, of Vancouver, had jumps of forty-nine and fifty-two metres to rank sixth in that division, but he finished far back in the cross-country run, as did the three other Canadian competitors, and he could not crash the point-scoring circle. Karl Baadsvik, Montreal, jumped forty-nine and forty-six metres; Bill Ball, also Montreal, had forty and five-tenths and thirty-six metres and Bud Clark, Ottawa veteran, thirty-six and five-tenths and thirty-five metres.

The figure skating victory of Maxie Herber and Ernst Baier was highly popular with the crowd. Their precision and grace as they skated to special music composed by Baier gave them a clean-cut win over Isle and Erick Pausin, of Austria. Third came Emilio Rotter and Lascio Szollas, Hungary; fourth, Piroska and Attila Szenreyessy, Hungary, and fifth, Maribel Vinson and George Hill, of the United States.

The Canadians, Louise Bertram and Stewart Reburn, caught the fancy of the crowd with their swooping figures, executed to the tilt of an exotic tango. The judges, apparently, were not so impressed in ranking them sixth. The other Canadian pair, Audrey Garland and Fraser Sweatman, Winnipeg, appeared nervous and were unable to threaten.

Although the point totals tonight showed Germany in front by a dwindling margin, 107 to 105, there was every prospect Norway would capture the team honors for the first time since 1928.

SONJA HENIE FAVORED

With the redoubtable Sonja Henie favored to retain the women's figure skating crown and Norse skiers and skaters almost certain to dominate the remaining events in their specialties, Norway seems to hold the winning cards in this unofficial phase of the Winter games.

There is no official team "title" in the Olympics, however. Various point-scoring methods are used, according to national standards.

Results follow:

1,500 metres speed-skating championships—Won by Charles Mathisen, Norway, 2:19.2—(new Olympic record); second, Ivar Ballangrud, Norway, 2:20.2; third, Birger Vasenius, Finland, 2:20.9; fourth, Leo Freisinger, Chicago, 2:21.2; fifth, Max Stiepl, Austria, 2:21.6; sixth, Karl Wasulek, Austria, 2:22.2.

Combined ski and cross country jumping—Won by Oddbjorn Hagen, Norway, jumps 42 and 46 metres, total 430.3; second, Olaf Hoffsbakken, Norway, 47—and 45.5, 419.8; third, Sverre Brodahl, Norway, 40 and 47, 408.1; fourth, Lauri Valonen, Finland, 52 and 54.4, 401.2; fifth, Frantisek Simunek, Czechoslovakia, 44.5 and 43.5, 394.3; sixth, Berndt Osterkioft, Norway, 44 and 48, 393.8.

Germany, Norway Leading Nations At the Olympiad

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 13 (C.)—The German hosts and Norway's hardy competitors had a successful day at the Winter games and tonight only two points separated them in the team standing, based on an unofficial point compilation.

Giving ten points for a win and crediting the next five finishers with 5-4-3-2-1 points, respectively, the standing follows:

Germany, 107; Norway, 105; Finland, 31; Switzerland, 25; Sweden, 17; United States, 15½; France, 11; Austria, 10½; Hungary, 7; Great Britain, 5; Czechoslovakia, 4; Holland, Japan and Italy, 3; Belgium, 2; Canada, 1.

Champion's Theories on Golf

By LAWSON LITTLE

After warming up over three California courses, Oakmont, Pasadena and Riverside, the Eastern professionals started to show their real wares in the recent eleventh Los Angeles Open Tournament. The first day marked the tournament as the fastest that had ever been held—about fifteen players broke 70 on the difficult Los Angeles Country Club course.

The feature threesome of the day was defending champion Victor Ghezzi, Harry Cooper and Harold "Jug" McSpaden. These boys had 66, 66 and 67 respectively. This is probably the hottest golf ever played by one threesome in any tournament. It is especially noteworthy because the course is considered very difficult.

The large galleries were held in suspense throughout the day by more than a score of players who broke or equaled par. At the close of the day everyone was wondering what was happening to the standard of golf. The fireworks by Ghezzi, Cooper and McSpaden left them speechless.

As an explanation for this grand golf, I do not want to take credit away from those who furnished the thrill, but from their own testimonial, the course was a bit easier to play on that day that at any time in the past.

The tees were placed well forward and the pins were in the centres of the greens. All the players agreed that the course was in such fine condition that low scoring was almost a certainty.

FRIENDLY GALLERY HELPS

Another important point which always aids low scoring, but is seldom mentioned is the friendly attitude of the gallery toward the players. I believe that golfers are much the same as the boys on the football field—if they feel that the crowd is friendly and pulling for them, they will put in a frame of mind that will enable them to attain even greater heights even in a game where they are already doing very well.

I have learned a good deal of what I know about golf from following good players every chance I had. I found, when I was a youngster, that I could mimic those players whose swings I fancied, and in that way picked out some of the fundamentals and made them permanent fixtures in my swing. To the young, enthusiastic golfers, may I suggest that they avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing the big stars in action whenever the chance presents itself. In this way they can get a mind's eye picture of what a correct golf swing should look like. From then on they must gather together the pointers gathered from the various "models" and apply these aids to their swing.

There are several essentials which, I believe, should be noticed by anyone who wishes to profit by watching the better golfers perform. First among these is rhythm and timing (which go together). Bobby Jones is probably the best model we have for this phase of the game, but he is closely followed by Tommy Armour, Mac Smith and Harry Cooper.

ARE GOOD MODELS

In driving, I would watch Jimmy Thompson and Craig Wood. These two boys hit the ball very far, and could only do so by having a wide, free hip-turn and a beautiful pivot.

For iron play, Tommy Armour still remains my favorite. Do not fail to notice his perfect hand-action. This feature of Armour's play is the best in the game and is what makes him so deadly in that department of golf. We appreciate the importance of good hand-action when we realize that the club-head hits the ball, and that the hands are the only part of the body that come in contact with the club.

FOLLOW RUNYAN

For the little shots around the greens we cannot find two better players to watch than Horton Smith and Paul Runyan. Paul is rather short off the tee and there are a number of long par four holes that he can reach in two, nevertheless he was the low scorer for 1935 with an average of 72.3 strokes per round for fifty-three rounds of medal play competition. This record shows how important the short game is.

In general, it is a good policy to watch how the good players play little finesse shots around the greens. Their choice of clubs should be studied carefully when they are playing these shots. These shots are not so impressive to watch, but they are more important than the long drives—Paul Runyan proved that conclusively last year.

Single hint: Watch these players who handle their irons and short chips well; they all play with their feet close together. This enables them to swing the club with their hands and thus cut out the extra motion of body action that undoubtedly makes room for error.

Soccer Chatter

By A.F.A.N.

Well, the Weats could not lick Esquimalt last Saturday. Neither, for that matter, could Esquimalt win the cup. But it is to be hoped that Victoria will live up to its reputation and that we shall be playing again tomorrow as usual. Taken all in all, we do not miss many Saturdays throughout the Winter.

When one reads of all the squabbling that goes on at the Olympic Games, one feels inclined to congratulate oneself that we are not in the international soccer events. But it would be interesting to find out how the Old Country and Canadian amateurs compare with those of the other countries of the world.

Moreover, a serious attempt in the soccer world of the games would probably do as much to spread the game in the world as the hockey contests apparently have done. There is no doubt that Canada could field a team which would hold its own with any of them.

Every time we see a picture of an Old Country star in The Colonist we cannot help noticing two features. One is that they all wear most sensibly cut shorts—roomy, long and outstandingly useful. Then, alas, we think of some of the "trunks" that some of our players struggle to keep on and up.

We often wonder if some of our boys imagine that they have chorus-girl legs. I have never yet met a soccer player with pretty legs, and the ugliness of those limbs is only accentuated by the "shorties" that threaten to become the fashion.

The other noticeable feature of the pictures under consideration is that every star has extremely useful well-developed legs, thick-set business-like knees, with hips and shoulders which give a man every protection in the hard bustling type of game played today. These are, of course, a matter of training and physical development only possible perhaps for a professional.

Now that the soccer people have apparently dropped the idea of using two referees on the field, the rugger folk are discussing it. They, too, have tried it out and found it wanting. Judges of some competitions have a chance to confer, but snap decisions, such as have to be given in a football game, do not allow of any co-operation, so that there does not seem to be any need for another referee who might possibly clash in his judgment with his confrere.

We might, of course, do as Major Bowes does, and allow the decisions to go by the majority vote of the fans, every one of whom is always perfectly certain and insistent with his verdict for offside, hands, foul, etc. The representatives of the press might have to decide which claim is the loudest, "Yes" being denoted by angry yells, and "No" by derisive howls.

This would have the double effect of encouraging the clubs to increase their gate receipts, and abolishing the degrading sport of referee-baiting. But the two sections of the crowd would have to be segregated.

A lot of fans, and some managers, think that the time is ripe for an overhauling of the substitution rule as practised here in Canada. The most objectionable feature to the manager of a team being that, having asked a spare man to hold himself in readiness to take his share in a game, one feels bound to let him have a fling, even though every man on the field is giving satisfaction.

Often a manager has been asked why he made this or that change. The reply has invariably been that he had to give the sub a game, and we can easily understand this point of view, but it has proved costly to the team and sometimes has even brought about disaster. No manager can bear to see a man stripped afternoon after afternoon standing around without even getting a kick at a ball.

The great majority of fans in this part of the world are old-time players who in their day would have scorned to be relieved of their position. If, they argue, a man feels he is not fit to play a full game, he should not start, or, if he does start, he should be man enough to last out the ninety minutes. The element of sport is being superseded by the desire either to win or to give an exhibition to please the fans.

The greatest wonder to these old-timers is that the players themselves seem to be satisfied with things as they are. Those who are sure of themselves, of course, do not worry, but in every team there are three or four men who play with the feeling that at any time the manager might haul them off the field as failures. Bad enough to be fired by the referee, but to be sent off by one's own manager, what a comedown!

As we have borrowed the system from hockey, with the idea of speeding up the game, why not be logical? Let there be substitutes, let every man on the team have an occasional five or ten minutes' rest during which he can hang around and catch cold, and let him go back again and substitute for the substitute. That is what makes hockey so fast. Then we shall have football that is football, and then, by the way, we shall be forced to employ two referees.

Of course the next step to take to avoid spoiling the game will be two, four and ten-minute penalties, a la hockey. This will allow the boys to mix it more freely. It seems a shame that a fistfight can spoil a game when it can be so easily arranged that one smack earns two minutes' rest, one kick four minutes and so on.

Don't let us fool ourselves any longer. Let us have soccer according to the rules of the game, or let us go ahead and evolve an "improved" game which will, we hope, attract more fans.

INDOOR RECORD GOES BY BOARDS

Sam Allen, Oklahoma Baptists' great hurdler, sped over the sixty-yard high hurdles in 7.4 seconds to better the accepted world indoor record by one-tenth of a second.

He was followed to the tape by Tom Moore, California, who was two yards back; Leroy Kirkpatrick, Samated Junior College; third, and Sam Klopstock, Stanford, fourth.

Kirkpatrick equalled the 7.4 seconds mark in a heat but toppled a hurdle en route, eliminating him from record competition.

HANS GUNNARSON WINS SKI EVENT

PRINCETON, B.C., Feb. 13 (C.)—Hans Gunnarson, of Revelstoke, who was selected on Canada's Olympic team but was forced to stay at home for lack of funds, won the class "A" jumping honors at the two-day ski tournament here. His best jump, however, was only 140 feet, owing to inclement weather conditions.

Nordahl Kaldahl, of Wells, was close behind, and also did one jump of 100 feet, but lost out in points, having only 149.9 to Gunnarson's 150.6. Ivan Nelson, of Revelstoke, placed third with 149.6 points. His best effort was 127 feet.

Alf Johannsen, of Kimberley, won the McKenzie Cup for combined events with 284.4 points, but just managed to keep ahead of his nearest rival, Kaldahl, who marked up 283.9.

Britain Banking on Them

CHAPTER XVII

Momentarily objects in the room became fainter as Iris waited for Mark in his apartment. Through the windows she saw clouds pile together like a dark great bank and from them came a low rumble of thunder. Lightning lighted the sky as the first large drops of rain fell.

In spite of the long time she waited, neither anger nor shame abated. Mixed with contempt for Mark and this humiliating gesture of generosity was contempt for herself and for Selina, whose cry so long had been, "You must make a brilliant marriage." No, she had not married a man with money but a man with money had made her cheap and degrading to herself and to the world. Nothing he could have done was as degrading as taking away her respect for herself!

There was little time to think of her mother and Eve and Eve's living and studying with Mark's money. One thing was certain and that was she could not go on living on his money. Iris felt a pang of pity for Camilla, her beauty gone, her future empty of the hope that Mark would share it with her!

Lightning played about the room when she saw Mark come in and look at her with surprise at finding her there. Was it possible to love and hate in the same breath? Iris's love went out to him from her eyes—hurt, stricken eyes. Her mouth was drawn. Her throat ached.

He did not pretend that this was a friendly visit and he hesitated to speak, knowing why she had come. Postpone it, he thought, although he knew she would not rant and shout. Better ranting and shouting than this maddening control of herself!

Not stopping to turn on a light, he went to her and sat by her on the divan. She couldn't despise him enough to forget this room and this divan where for the first time they had looked at each other!

"Iris, I won't apologize for what I did for you. Before we say anything else let me tell you. I shall be forever grateful to you for telling Camilla a brutal truth. I've just come from there. I asked her to marry me and she refused. You went to her, knowing that she would tell you something about me to hurt you . . ."

He touched her arms and she drew away.

"That's a mild way of putting it—hurt. You, of all people, who know my loathing for things unfair, to degrade me to myself and my family and friends . . . hurt is such a small word."

"I was trying to make it easier for you. Believe me, I was."

She drew away from him again.

"You were trying to buy me. The working girl who sells herself so that her sister can be famous. What right did you have to do that? I told Louis once I had no weapons of power and money to fight with. I've never had anything but my self-respect. Now you've taken that away from me." She turned and looked at him. "I suppose Tommy owes his new job to you, too."

His eyes met hers. "Yes. I did that for him."

"You did that, too? And I suppose in time you will take the mortgage from our home?" She laughed dryly, shortly. "It's ugly and sordid melodrama. How dare you!"

"I dared because I love you."

"My love has nothing to do with money. It's above it—was above it."

"You still love me, Iris. You wouldn't have set me free if you hadn't."

"Love mingled with hate and contempt for a man who tries to buy his way."

"Stop saying that. If I wanted to buy you, I'd have told you what I was doing to win your gratitude. I wasn't paving the way for myself—but for Joel. You can't understand that, can you? Paving the way for him by lessening your responsibilities at home. Iris, you're upset and puzzled. This is not the time . . ."

Her eyes were less vehement when they met his again.

"This is the time to tell you that this gesture of yours has shaken my faith to nothing—has made the perfect thing in my life imperfect. For weeks since I've known and loved you it's something I've held on to. Everything could hurt me and disappoint me—but that was right and good. You and what you stood for. When everything went wrong, I looked up to it."

"I never dreamed it would be like this. I do things impulsively like that. It was not to humiliate you or make you cheap. You couldn't be, Iris. And I'm humble for what you did for me. Your gesture was magnificent."

"Do you think they'll keep silent, Annette and Camilla? Soon everyone will know. People will point me out as the girl Mark Christian . . ."

"Loved and lost," he said.

For a second the lightning blinded her.

"I'm glad you weren't here when I came," she said. "I would have been shrewish. I wanted to be vile and abusive. When people are hurt, they want to hurt other people."

"Are you so much concerned about your reputation and what Camilla will spread around?"

"It's not very important. But that's all a poor girl ever has—her reputation. I've tried to keep mine clean."

"Once you said you forgave Joel for loving you too much. Iris, will you forgive me for loving you so much I wanted to make it easier for you?"

It was quite dark in the room except for the spasmodic flashes of lightning. Rain spattered against the windows. From somewhere in the apartment came a cool, swift draft.

She got up and walked a little away from him. It was madness to stay and listen to his voice, to be so close she could touch him. Fire and ice she felt, looking at his smooth black hair and his dark eyes that waited for her answer. How close love was to hate—she had the impulse to cry out against him angrily one moment and the next to go into his arms and say, "Take me away from all this ugliness. Only you can take me away. Protect me from everything, Mark—from the lightning and the rain from people like Annette and Camilla who will be about me! Take me away from all this and love me so much I'll forget it ever happened!"

She turned her face away and said, "You might at least have given me the perfect memory of loving you when we are saying good-bye."

"Good-bye!"

"I didn't play the game with you I fell in love with you, Mark. I didn't have any right to fall in love with you when I'd promised Joel—but I did."

"How wrong you are, Iris, with your stubborn loyalty." His hands were on her shoulders. "I won't beg you to listen to reason. I love you and want to marry you. When you know you're wrong, come and tell me. I'll be waiting. You're a fair person. If it takes years for you to know you're being unfair to yourself and this boy, I'll still be waiting."

She said, "Everything is wrong, twisted, and spoiled."

"I'm sorry I spoiled the perfect memory. That's all I can say . . . sorry and grateful . . ."

"And good-bye."

Closing the door, she stood in the long empty hall, now dark, now briefly lighted by swift flashes.

Closing the door on Mark was closing out everything worth while and beautiful—everything she wanted. In moments like this you didn't cry or shout. You were terribly calm, ominously calm to an impersonal world. You thought of odd things at a time like this. Louis was taking off his white coat, Selina was setting the table, and the street cars were crowded. "While I've closed the door on happiness, closed out everything but my duty," and in the last minutes she had never loved him more.

Tommy was on the same street car. How long had Iris been standing in the rain? Her blue dress was spotted, her hair was damp.

She did not see him. She did not seem to be seeing anything. Her eyes, beautiful eyes, though! Tommy, who loved her, stared out bleakly as though the world were empty.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Mrs. Grouse Wakes Up

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Harder and harder had frozen the crust over the snow in the Green Forest and on the Green Meadows, which were white now instead of green. But Mrs. Grouse, snug and warm in her bed under the snow knew nothing of this. No, Mrs. Grouse knew nothing about that crust growing harder and harder and thicker and thicker. You see, there had been no crust, nothing but soft snow, when she went to bed, and the only worry on her mind when she fell asleep had been whether or not she would be able to find enough to eat the next day, for food was scarce. Even this did not worry her a great deal, for, though she often had gone hungry, she always had managed to find enough to keep her alive until better times, and she had lived long enough to learn that good times are bound to follow bad times.

When jolly, round, red Mr Sun climbed out of bed the next morning and began to climb up in the blue, blue sky, he looked down on a very beautiful world. He couldn't remember ever having seen it more beautiful. No, sir, he couldn't. You see, when he went to bed the night before it had been snowing. Then the snow had turned to rain, and after that along had come Jack Frost and frozen it as fast as it fell. Then in the night the clouds had disappeared and now Mr. Sun looked down on such a beautiful, beautiful world. Every teeniest, weeniest twig of every tree and bush was covered with ice, until it looked as if it were made of glass. Yes, sir, the trees of the Green Forest and the Old Orchard and all the other trees looked as if they were glass trees. They winked and twinkled and sparkled and flashed and shone whenever Mr. Sun's beams touched them, and showed the most beautiful colors. And the snow on the ground was covered with an icy crust that glistened and flashed almost as much as did the trees, and that was so hard and strong that Farmer Brown's Boy could slide on it without once breaking through.

But when Mrs. Grouse awoke that beautiful morning, the first thing she thought of was how thankful she was that no harm had come to her in the night and that she hadn't been obliged to fly for her life, as sometimes had happened when Granny or Reddy Fox had come along. And the next thing Mrs. Grouse thought of was something to eat.

"I expect I shall have to go up to the Old Orchard for some apple buds, because other food is so scarce, and the sooner I go the better, for the less likely is Farmer Brown's Boy to see me," said she to herself.

So, just as she was in the habit of doing every morning after spending a night under the snow, she sprang upward, spreading her stout wings and expecting to make the snow fly in a cloud. But she didn't. No, sir, she didn't make the snow fly at all. Instead, she bumped her head. That's what she did—bumped her head. It surprised her so that for a minute or two she just lay still and gasped. Then a great fright filled her heart. What if she couldn't get out? The very thought frightened her still more, and she beat her stout wings harder than ever. But it was of no use, no use at all. She couldn't break through that hard, thick crust, and she only tired herself out and bruised herself for nothing. Mrs. Grouse was held a prisoner by the very snow that had so often protected her and kept her safe from all harm.

Next Story: "Mrs. Grouse Grows Hungry."

COUGHS and COLDS Call for Dr. Mustard!

Head colds, sneezing, coughs, grippy aches and pains—all call for Dr. Mustard—either in a full-length hot mustard bath, a mustard foot-bath, or, in the case of chest coughs, a mustard plaster. There is nothing better than the old-fashioned way of sweating out the poisons. It drives out the infectious germs and so stops coughs and colds spreading through the family.

Keep Colman's handy to stop that infectious cold at the very first sniffle or sneeze!

RHEUMATISM DRIVEN OUT!

It should be realized Rheumatism is not inevitable if the poisonous acid fluids of the system are kept on the move, thus preventing the formation and deposit of painful crystals in the joints.

The solvent stimulating action of Phosferine has a masterly effect of liquefying, dispersing and expelling the harmful acid crystals, and it recharges the tortured and exhausted nerve centres with the energy to restore easy movement to the stiffened joints, and suppleness to pain rigid muscles.

This exclusive property of Phosferine is illustrated by the recent experience of Mrs E Brewster, who writes: "For months my husband was in terrible pain with Rheumatism in his feet, walking with agony, until he tried Phosperine, and now all his Rheumatic pain has gone, and he says it is wonderful to walk without any pain." 6 Greek Street, Hull.

The speedy expulsion of Rheumatism is something to be thankful for—apart from the saving in time and money, for it means that Phosferine has revitalized the body cells, regulated the blood pressure, strengthened the stomach and circulation, and maintained perfect health and "many happy returns" of Activity!
